Boy Foils Kidnaping of Brother

Today

The Party Is On.
Here Goes a Dive.
The Puzzling Weather.
The Rest, Salesmanship.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THE POLITICAL party is on, full swing. President Hoover is put in nomination by Postmaster General Brown. Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, and former Gov. Byrd, of Virginia, are named by Democrats, who held 60 "victory dinners" scattered all over the country. Perhaps "victory" is premature.

The greatest enthusiasm followed mention of Gov. Alfred E. Smith's name at Boston's victory dinner. Gov. Smith smiled like Mona Lisa, mysteriously, talked about the weather, said he was too old to be drafted.

Gov. Roosevelt made a gratifying suggestion that something be done about our system of taxation, with the nation, states and cities, at present all "drawing" the same sources for revenue. It is as though 10 milkmaids were all milking the same cow. The distressed cow is labeled "capital."

The political milkmaids reply:

"We must milk the cow that has milk."

GOV. ROOSEVELT, of New York, reveals his ability to use vigorous language. Of a writer in Collier's who says that Gov. Roosevelt referred to former Gov. Smith as "a rotten" Governor, Gov. Roosevelt says:

"He is not only a liar, but a contemptible liar."

There is a reason for the Governor's indignation, since those that oppose him rely to a considerable extent on the hostility of former Gov. Smith's friends.

A MAN, successful, well known in his business, under 40, made a round of New York speakeasies, drank in each, and later, with a young woman companion, requested liquor of a friend who lives 20 stories up in the air.

The friend refused, and the man, saying, "Well, here goes a dive," jumped from the twentieth story and killed himself. His relatives refuse to believe that prohibition is a perfect success.

THE WEATHER, generally called "unusual," really is unusual, just now. On Thursday the "cold Atlantic seaboard" was hot, with soft June breezes in New York City, and even warmer in Philadelphia, the thermometer at 79 above at Hanover, Pa., and 35 degrees below zero at Elko, Nev.

Some day men will control earth's temperature, as they now control that of an apartment house, warming the poles with surplus heat of the equator, directing the ocean's hot water currents whither they are needed, possibly with some thermostat arrangement.

WHAT MEN can imagine they can do. And now that they talk around the world in the seventh part of a second, fly over the ocean and travel under it, the silly person is he who calls impossible anything that is conceivable.

AUTOMOBILE MEN all over the country will be encouraged when they learn the details of the big automobile show that closes tonight in New York City. Actual sales of automobiles have increased 25 to 50 per cent and "sales prospects" have increased even more.

The problem now is SALESMANSHIP. Manufacturers have produced the cars and the public will buy them if they are well shown and their qualities made clear.

The industry has done its part by producing cars that will sell, and will back up the product with energetic advertising. The rest is SALESMANSHIP.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS believes this country is as foolish as ever, at heart, refuses other moratoria just now on account of politics. We are expected to come back to our silly state after the next election and do whatever Europe says. The League of Nations will be disappointed.

The British say they don't like that word "repudiation" and it is believed they will find nicer words for Mussolini's suggestion that all European countries get together and say to Uncle Sam:

"You have got all the money you are going to have, please realize it now and make the best of it."

GERMANY THINKS that repudiation idea a good one. You can hardly blame Germany considering the number of billions they have paid out. Luckily for them, while they paid billions to France with one hand, they were able to borrow other billions from the United States and England with the other.

IN THE UNITED STATES every year 16,000 women and 30,000 infants die in childbirth, that might be saved by "adequate maternity care." This "richest, most enlightened" nation, has the highest maternity death rate of all civilized nations. Holland and Scandinavia have the lowest rates.

It will interest future historians to learn that the government will send experts to help the farmer with a cow about to calf or a mare about to foal, but makes no such provisions for the human mother.

MRS. FORTESCUE, held in Hawaii on the charge of murdering a young "beach boy," whom she believed guilty of brutally attacking her young married daughter, receives many messages of sympathy from women and men in this country.

Mrs. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, cables:

"I would have done the same in your place, and so would any other good mother."

Under the laws of Hawaii, there will be no women on the jury that will try Mrs. Fortescue for murder.

10-YEAR-OLD BEATS MAN WITH CLUB

Jumps on Spare Tire of Auto As Abductor Speeds Away; Girl's Assailant Trailed

CHARLEROI, Pa., Jan. 16.—Speers police and county detectives today are searching for a man who yesterday seized John Andrews, 6, son of Constable George E. Andrews, of Speers, and carried him to the outskirts of town, where the boy's brother, Homer, 10, affected his release by beating the abductor with a club.

The abductor stopped his auto and inquired of the brothers the road to Twilight, a nearby town. The stranger grabbed the younger boy and pulled him into the car and started away. Homer jumped on the spare tire, he told police, and when the auto stopped, John jumped from the auto. The stranger followed and as he attempted to grasp John, Homer struck him with a club.

Both boys ran down a hill to their home. Homer furnished police with a license number but so far it has not resulted in any arrests.

Detectives are still seeking the motorists who beat Dorothy May Henrion, 18, who is recovering from the effects of the beating which rendered her unconscious for several days. One of the men may be arrested within a short time, the detectives said. State police also are investigating a reported attempt to attack Leona Demys, 18, here last night.

Belgrade Students Cheer King in R'ot

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—University students rioted on the occasion of the joint parliamentary session yesterday. They threw bricks and other missiles at the police and shouted, "Down with Zivkovitch, long live the King!" Gen. Peter Zivkovitch resigned as premier January 4 and succeeded the following day in forming another cabinet.

Store Door Broken, Police Jail Suspect

James Crawford, 26, without a home, was found by police in a butcher shop owned by Matt Koser, at Atlantic avenue and Broad street, early today, and was lodged in Forty-third Street Police Station on a suspicious person charge. Police, investigating a broken door, said they found Crawford in the building.

Cierva and Pitcairn Get Autogiro Prize

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The John Scott Award, carrying with it a premium of $1,000, last night was presented jointly to Juan De La Cierva and Harold F. Pitcairn for invention and development of the autogiro, respectively.

Aimee and Hutton Plan 'Honeymoon'

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, and her husband, David Hutton, obtained passports yesterday for what they described as their "first real honeymoon," a trip to Cuba and Central America.

FIND DYNAMITE ON TRACKS

Discovery of a box containing 50 sticks of dynamite between the rails of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad, near Glenbury street, Overbrook, frustrated, police believed today, a serious train wreck.

No caps were found with the explosive, police said.

The explosive was found by four boys, Harry Tewell, 16, of Glenbury street; William Price, 18, of Parkview street; Lawrence McGrail, 19, of Jacobs street, and Jerome Seibel, 17, of Vineland street.

An investigation has been started by City Detective Michael Tortorelli, of the bomb and arson squad, and railroad police.

The discovery was made on the West Side Belt Line most of the traffic on which consists of coal shipped from the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation.

Mae Murray Ordered To Pay Aide $825

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—A judgment for $825 in favor of J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income tax expert, who sued Mae Murray, film actress, for $2,250, was entered yesterday by Superior Judge C. A. Stutzman. Miss Berger claimed $2,250 for computing Miss Murray's income tax.

HOOVER, DAVIS DISCUSS COAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Senator Davis today conferred with President Hoover on his proposed bill to regulate and aid the bituminous coal industry.

He said the President expressed no opinion on it.

SENATE LOAN QUIZ HEARS STIMSON

Secretary Asked to Explain Refusal to Surrender Papers on Oil Concession

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson was called before the Senate Finance Committee today to explain his department's refusal to supply correspondence with reference to the Barco concessions and loans to Colombia.

Stimson appeared before the committee's executive session at the request of Chairman Smoot. Senator Johnson, (Rep.), of California, who has sponsored the investigation of foreign bond issues, did not sit with the committee.

The State Department has refused to furnish the committee in open session correspondence with the American legation in Colombia, which dealt with the restoration of the Barco oil concession to American interests last year.

It also has refused to furnish correspondence with reference to a $4,000,000 loan extended to Colombia by the National City Company 10 days after the concession was granted. The loan had been contracted for the year before.

Johnson, who originally asked for the documents, but who is not a member of the committee, sat outside in an ante-room while Stimson testified. Johnson said he was asked to leave the committee room during the executive session.

After a few minutes of waiting, Smoot emerged and invited Johnson to come in, which he did.

College Professor Upholds U. S. Slang

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—The use of slang was viewed today by Prof. W. F. Bryan, head of the English department of Northwestern University as "a healthy condition in the language of a people."

The professor was among those who disagreed with Prof. Allen S. Will of Columbia University who recently said that "Oh, Yeah," "Okay" and the like indicated a degeneration of American speech into the "jargon of the jungle."

HAWAII SPEEDS VICE CLEANUP MEASURES

Death Penalty for Attacks Demanded; Four Revenge Killers Waive Hearing

By GILBERT PARKER
International News Service.

HONOLULU, Jan. 16.—Shaken to the very core of its social fabric by recent acts of violence that included the attack of a naval officer's young bride by five natives and the "revenge murder" of one of the five, Honolulu today turned confidently to its territorial legislature to accomplish a much needed house cleaning.

The fate of the Hawaiian government is at stake in the issues involved.

Leaders conceded that unless drastic legal reforms were enacted at the special legislative session convening Monday, the United States government would intercede to put Honolulu's house in order.

Gov. Lawrence Judd's program of legislative reform, that includes a proposed law to make heinous crimes against women punishable by death or life imprisonment, is backed by a strongly organized public opinion, and legislators indicated the measure would be enacted into law next week.

While dicussion centered on the forthcoming special session, Mrs. Thalia Massie, central figure in the storm that has turned Honolulu topsy turvy, remained in seclusion at the Pearl Harbor naval reservation.

FACE MURDER TRIAL

In custody, and facing trial for the first degree murder of Joe Kahahawai, one of the natives accused of attacking Mrs. Massie, were Mrs. Massie's mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, eastern society leader; Mrs. Massie's husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men, E. J. Lord and Albert Jones. They remained on the U. S. warship Alton, anchored in the harbor.

The territorial grand jury had convened today to qualify and to receive instructions governing inquiry into the killing of Kahahawai.

County Prosecutor James Gilliland said the grand jury probably would return next week formal indictments of Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Massie and the two enlisted men for the spectacular kidnaping and "honor slaying" of Kahahawai, the accused ring-leader of the natives that criminally attacked Mrs. Massie last September 12.

4 Cabinet Members Face Senate Quiz on Hawaii

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—The Senate Insular Affairs Committee today undertook to determine whether a congressional investigation of conditions in Hawaii is necessary.

Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of the Navy Adams, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Attorney General Mitchell and Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, were called before the committee to state whether they considered such an investigation imperative.

Several Senate and House resolutions demanding a congressional investigation are pending before Congress.

Pratt Rebuke Asked In Lynch Law Stand

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Secretary of the Navy Adams was called upon yesterday by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to rebuke Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, for what the association termed his defense of "lynch law" in Hawaii.

The association's letter also censures the subcommittee of the House Committee on Naval Affairs for urging commendation of Navy officials involved in the Hawaiian situation.

FATHER COX FOLLOWERS CHEERED BY PINCHOT

Governor's Message Declares Government Duty-Bound To Aid Its Unemployed

Declaring that the right to work is as sacred as the right to live, Gov. Pinchot in his message to Father James R. Cox's second unemployment relief demonstration, at the Pitt Stadium today, held that the government was obligated to aid its idle hosts.

The Governor's address to the thousands who rallied to the priest's demands for the jobless, was brought to Pittsburgh by John M. Phillips, president of the State Federation of Labor.

The Governor said:

"You have every right in the world to demand that the national government shall come to your assistance. It is your government, set up to protect and care for you—not to stand by and watch you go hungry and cold."

MANY WOMEN IN CROWD

The first opportunity the women have had to join in the jobless demonstration saw hundreds in the throng that flocked to the big bowl from all parts of the county and beyond its limits.

Born out of the jobless march to Washington, a new political party will hold its national convention in St. Louis Labor Day, September 5. Father Cox announced, to nominate a candidate for the presidency in opposition to the candidates of the major parties.

FATHER COX TO LEAD

Delegations from a number of places were to gather and march to the stadium, 100 truck loads of men were to leave from Old St. Patrick's Church, with Father Cox at their head in the truck he rode on the trip to Washington last week.

Probably 4,000 men were to occupy the trucks. Other delegations include 200 from Homestead, men who will give out the certificates to the 10,000 or more soldiers of the jobless army who went to Washington and petitioned Congress for unemployment relief.

ADMISSION AT 11:30

The gates of the Stadium were opened at 11:30 a. m. Fifty police were stationed there to keep traffic moving and expedite entrance into the bowl.

From noon until 2 p. m. Father Cox and his aides gave out the

KLINE SUBPENA STAY SOUGHT

If the State Supreme Court hands down no decision on the trial of Mayor Charles H. Kline before Tuesday, the District Attorney's office here will ask a continuance of the case for one week here in order to hold in force the subpenas which have been issued, according to Assistant District Attorney George P. Langfitt.

The proceedings for a change of venue filed by the defense in Philadelphia have acted as a stay.

Star Messenger 'Boy' Proves Girl

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Employes of the national headquarters of the American Legion learned today that their star messenger "boy," who had worked for nine months, was a girl.

The girl, revealed as Miss Elizabeth Chatham, 28, of Hartford City, Ind., smoked a pipe while working for the legion. She disappeared suddenly after rumors concerning her identity were spread about the legion office building.

Winter's Arrival Postponed Again

Winter's arrival has again been postponed. Instead of a coating of snow, rain is predicted for tonight and Sunday, with the lowest temperature tonight of about 40 degrees. Tomorrow the mercury will rise.

The expected 30 degrees last night did not materialize, the official recordings being 36.

Stork Wins Hospital Race, Baby Girl Born in Taxi

The stork won by a beak early today in a race with a taxicab, with the Magee Hospital as the finish line.

As the cab was turning into the hospital driveway, a baby girl weighing 7 pounds 7 ounces was born to Mrs. Victoria Vogel, 21, of 1560 Banksville road, an occupant. Both were reported doing well at the hospital today.

Kenneth Wilson, of Howe street, the driver, said he was called first to 261 Park way, Mt. Lebanon, where he picked up a woman who directed him to the Banksville road address, where Mrs. Vogel boarded the cab. A race with the stork followed.

Mrs. Vogel is the mother of a son, Joseph, 4. Her husband, Joseph Vogel, was killed in an automobile accident Labor Day.

Girl Held in Jail Denies East End Holdup

Virginia De Vault, 23, a waitress, of 1230 Palo Alto street, and her sweetheart, Victor Burgard, 33, of 607 Taylor avenue, North Side, arrested on complaint of a Negro youth after trouble in Collins avenue early today, were held over in East End Police Court until arresting officers can testify.

The Negro, Harry Moore, 24, of 123 Luna street, testified he had been beaten and robbed of $4.20 by Burgard and three other men who accompanied him and Miss De Vault.

The girl testified Moore jumped on the running board of their automobile and a fight and chase ensued. She and Burgard denied any money was taken from Moore.

REED AGAIN TAKES STAND AGAINST DEBT CANCELLATION

PENNSYLVANIAN SAYS EUROPE MUST PAY

Loans by U. S. Bear No Relation to Reparations, Have Been Pared Enough

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.

Further press dispatches from Europe seeking to link American war debts with reparations today had brought from Senator David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, a vigorous declaration against any move aimed at cancellation.

Reed, one of those agitating cancellation of sums advanced for reparations by the United States, and raised through the sale of bonds to the American people, the Pennsylvania Senator asserted that foreign creditors had always received generous treatment at the hands of the American government. He said:

"Constant press reports from Europe attempting to class debts due us with reparations will not meet a responsive chord in this country. The debts were for moneys advanced, not indemnities."

At the same time he said the United States would be ready to consider sympathetically a proposal for the temporary adjustment of debts owed by countries such as Great Britain which, because of difficulties in their fiscal affairs, are embarrassed in meeting their obligations. He emphasized, however, that such adjustments would be temporary only. He continued:

"The debts owed the United States have been generously funded, and the agreements signed voluntarily by the various governments. In their present form and amount they represent only a small part of the moneys actually advanced by this country.

"It is, therefore, impossible for the United States to admit that if Germany is, or may be, unable to pay further reparations, this automatically cancels the debts, since they have no relation to reparations. When the debts were created, no reparations existed.

"What I have been steadily trying to bring out is that the debts are in a totally different status from reparations, and that there should be no repudiation of the principle that they are valid and sacred obligations, and that these obligations are individual to each nation, not collective to the debtors as a whole or to be dealt with in that fashion."

2 Firms Here Get State Tax Refunds

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The State Board of Finance and Revenue announced tax refunds in the form of credits in the amount of $46,171 to nine corporations and a cash refund of $817 to one company.

The refunds in the form of credits include: Standard Talking Machine Company, Pittsburgh, $505 on 1928 and 1929 loans tax and Gulf Refining Company, Pittsburgh, $14,209 on liquid fuels tax based on sales to the City of Philadelphia.

Striking Taxi Men To Hear Father Cox

WALSH'S SONS ACCUSED

Paul and Lawrence Walsh, sons of Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, four policemen and 10 other persons were charged with election law violations in the September primaries in informations on file today in Alderman Jacob Yeager's office.

Paul Walsh, newly-elected First Ward Constable, was accused of persuading and bribing voters at the polls by distributing liquor. Lawrence Walsh was charged with illegally assisting voters, including his father, in the operation of vote machines.

The policemen are John Neary, 804 Forbes street; Jack Gerber, 900 Locust street; J. C. Hooper, 611 Locust street, and William Dillon, 16 Smithfield street. William Richardson, 212 Smithfield street; James Fennel, 4 Boyd street; John Weber, 909 Bluff street, and Edward Boyle, 119 First avenue, First Ward election officials, were charged with permitting law violations at the polls.

Others accused are Patrick Hunter, 819 Bluff street; John Rosenberg, 809 Locust street; Leo Ford, 207 Boulevard of the Allies; James Harkins, 418 Diamond street; Mary Smith, 510 Third avenue, and Mathilda Bierhiller, 510 Third avenue.

'Who's Who' Space Supremacy Won By Egyptologist

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The British "Who's Who, 1932," containing between 25,000 and 30,000 biographies of the world's great, was issued yesterday by the MacMillan Company.

As measured by space, the world's greatest appears to be Sir Ernest A. Wallace Budge, the Egyptologist, who rates two full columns. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is accorded a column and a half.

The volume records that the principal recreation of William T. Tilden, Jr., is "tennis," and devotes 15 lines to Bobby Jones. Josef Stalin is omitted.

'Bomb' Sent to Dr. Klein's Office Is Only Pills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A little wooden box which could have been a bomb was passed gingerly from government bureau to government bureau yesterday until the lid was lifted carefully to reveal some kind of pills.

Three detectives had been trying to get rid of the package since Nothing after it created grave concern at the Department of Commerce. It was addressed to Dr. Julius Klein, assistant Secretary of Commerce.

The porter who opens office packages had been reading about infernal machines and was taking no chances. He called a building guard, who summoned the police. Detective Sergts. Mansfield, Ogle and Wise squeezed in vain for aid in opening the package to the Bureau of Standards and the Bureau of Mines, which denied having facilities for handling infernal machines. Finally at the Naval Research Laboratory a squad of Marines fired six rifle shots through the box.

Then protected by an iron shield and with the aid of mirrors and long pincers someone raised the top. The box held enough little white tablets for an army.

Dr. Klein laughed heartily and said the box probably contained solidified canned heat tablets he had been expecting from Chicago.

WILLARD MAKES WAGE CUT PLEA

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The presentation of the railroads' case was by agreement, the first topic for discussion today by union executives and representatives of the railroads negotiating for a 10 per cent wage reduction of employes and relief for unemployed workers.

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio and leader of the presidents' group, said he would give arguments in support of the proposed 10 per cent to be deducted from each pay for a period of one year.

After this representatives of both groups will debate their separate issues.

The joint meeting began late yesterday. The session, according to Mr. Willard and D. B. Robertson, head of the labor delegation, was largely devoted to outlining propositions.

DAMAGED SHIP IN PORT

NEW LONDON, Conn., Jan. 16.—(INS)—Listing badly with a gaping hole in her side when the prow of the steamer Lemuel Burrows pierced her yesterday afternoon in a crash off Montauk Point, the coast guard destroyer Herndon arrived here today after a weary all-night tow.

With her 96 men and six officers aboard, the battered Herndon was being towed stern first at a snail's pace by the destroyer Acushnet, which took her over at 2:30 a. m. from the Lemuel Burrows.

The latter ship, and freighter-collier from Boston, was meanwhile making as best she could for New York to have her prow smashed in the collision in yesterday's fog, repaired.

Radio reports early this morning said several of the Herndon's crew had suffered minor injuries in the collision, but the extent of the casualty list could not be determined.

German Reparation Repudiation Backed

BARDOLPH, KERR SUED IN OHIO COAL DEAL

Trustee Seeking to Recover Mine Land for Bankrupt Company in Zanesville

Among eight defendants in a suit brought in Federal Court in Columbus, O., for recovery of lands of the Ellis Coal Company for the bankrupt Blanchard-Zanesville Mining Company are Dr. James P. Kerr, City Controller, and C. A. Bardolph, president of the closed Franklin Savings and Trust Company, it was learned today.

The suit, filed by Frank Tussey, of Columbus, trustee in bankruptcy for the Blanchard-Zanesville firm, maintains that, in purchasing its lands, the Ellis Coal Company was favored unduly by receivers of the company.

KERR EXPLAINS

In a statement today, Kerr explained that he became connected with the Blanchard-Zanesville company before he "even thought of becoming Controller," and that he only met Bardolph at directors' meetings. Kerr was a director in both companies. Bardolph director of both and secretary-treasurer of the present Ellis company.

Kerr said:

"This matter had its inception eight or nine years ago and the present suit originated long before I became or even thought of becoming Controller of the City of Pittsburgh. I never have had any dealings with the Franklin Savings and Trust Company and I met Mr. Bardolph only at meetings of the coal company directors, of which he was one.

"All of the transactions of the coal company had the approval of its attorney, James H. Duff, Esq., in advance.

"I know little of this mater. I became interested in the coal company at the behest of a personal friend, Dr. F. T. Billings, who, like myself, has lost all he put into the company with no chance of either of us ever recovering any of it."

Dr. Billings said that at the time he interested Dr. Kerr in the company, it seemed to be financially sound.

CALLED RIDICULOUS

Duff, attorney for the defendants, said:

"This is a most ridiculous suit. The matter originated in an entirely different form several years ago and was thrown out of the Ohio courts. It turned up again the middle of last year in this guise. There can be no doubt but that it will meet the same fate as the previous suit.

"It seems to me that the sole purpose behind this action is to harass innocent men who already have lost considerable money in attempting to develop an unprofitable coal mining proposition and who cannot possibly recover any part of their investments.

"A large part of the losses fell upon Dr. Kerr and Dr. Billings, who personally contributed additional sums to the company in an attempt to protect its creditors.

"The Franklin Savings and Trust Company became a creditor several years ago and, as usual in such matters, Mr. Bardolph was made a director to represent the banks' interest in the company."

The bank, it was learned, held $50,000 bonds in the bankrupt company, $35,000 bonds and 350 shares of stock in the Ellis Coal Company.

RAILWAYS CUTS FORCE 400

More than 400 Pittsburgh Railways Company trainmen were furloughed today because of "a severe reduction in earnings," according to Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president. The order affects only men whose service began since May 14, 1921.

Pointing out the reduction in earnings because of the loss of business during evenings, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, Fitzgerald said:

"It is regretted that the reduction in earnings has made it necessary to furlough a number of trainmen in order that those remaining in the employ of the company may earn a reasonably adequate wage. In the event that general business conditions improve and street railway traffic increases, some of those to be furloughed will be restored to active service."

Uniontown Pastors Fight Sunday Show

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 16.—Ministers and others today voiced their opposition to a movie picture benefit show scheduled for Sunday. A delegation from the ministerial association conferred with District Attorney Wade K. Matthew Dunn, blind member of the Legislature was to be the first speaker, followed by Mrs. Mary T. Horan, director of the National Council of Catholic Women.

The invocation was to be by Rabbi Herman Hailperin, of the Tree of Life congregation.

Father Cox will conclude the program with an address and presentation of medals to his adjutants and captains those who guided his marching army of 15,000.

Delegations from McKeesport were to park their automobiles in Schenley Park and parade to the Stadium; a delegation from the South Side was to meet at noon in Armstrong Park, Twelfth and Carson streets, and march to the gathering, headed by a police escort and a band.

There is no admission charge.

A delegation of about 600 was expected from Johnstown, according to Mayor Edward McCloskey. The Mayor said there would be no parade and some of the men started at 9 o'clock this morning. McCloskey said he would arrive about 1 p. m.

Women Carry Lunch To Stadium Rally

In the group that gathered early today waiting for the gates of the Stadium to open for Father James R. Cox's unemployment relief demonstration, were three South Side women, Mrs. B. Blinkey, Mrs. Ann Tiefer and Mrs. Mary Urban. Mrs. Blinkey's husband, an ex-service man, was one of Father Cox's Washington army. The women carried a bottle of hot coffee and sandwiches.

McCloskey Holds Up Chief Briney's Pay

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Mayor Eddie McCloskey yesterday refused to sign a pay warrant for Chief of Police Charles Briney.

The Mayor announced some time ago that he had "fired" the police head, but Briney refused to relinquish the post.

$9,470 for Woman Hurt in Car Crash

A verdict of $9,470 for injuries to Mrs. Helen M. Metz, of Pittsburgh, in an automobile collision, was awarded her in her suit, joined in by her husband, Linus P. Mertz, against Simon Heim, of Ross Township, in Common Pleas Court.

PINCHOT TAKES FIRM STAND FOR NEEDY

Government's Duty to Help Unemployed, Governor's Representative Tells Rally

Gov. Pinchot today took a firm stand in behalf of the unemployed, when in a message to be read to the thousands of jobless who gathered for Father James R. Cox's relief demonstration in the Pitt Stadium, he said:

"The first and most important task of any government is to care for those of its people who, through no fault of their own, have been deprived of the power to care for themselves."

PHILLIPS READS MESSAGE

The message was brought to Pittsburgh by John M. Phillips, president of the State Federation of Labor, as the Governor's representative at Father Cox's rally.

Excerpts from it follow:

"I doubt whether the politicians who laughed at you and me and killed my plans for relief would laugh if they stood before you now. This is not a time for laughing. It is a time for doing.

"You have every right in the world to demand that the national government shall come to your assistance. It is your government, set up to protect and care for you—not to stand by and watch you go hungry and cold.

HOPES FOR RELIEF

"I sincerely hope and believe that the echoes of this meeting will resound through the White House and the halls of Congress. I hope that they will waken in those who have so far turned a deaf ear to your pleas a belated sense of shame and a present sense of duty. I hope they will bring you a speedy reply in the form of federal relief.

"No one is more convinced than I am of the righteousness of your cause; no one is more in sympathy with the ideas for which you stand!

"You stand first of all, as I see it, for the right of every man to work for a living. To my mind that right is just as sacred as the very right to live. The right to live is often a hollow guesture to him who is denied a decent chance to work for a living. Many of you know that all too well.

TELLS OF REED'S JEERS

"But whenever the right to work is for any reason denied—be it for a month or a year or longer—until the changes which must be made, changes which will see to it that every man can find a job—until that time, I say, it seems to me that the first and most important task of any government is to care for those of its people who, through no fault of their own, have been deprived of the power to care for themselves.

"Since early last summer—in speeches, letters, newspaper articles and personal conversations—I have been urging and pleading for federal aid for the unemployed. My pleas have been laughed at and ignored by the great. Senator Reed led the chorus. But I doubt whether such a gathering as this can be laughed away by the most callous politician."

Noted Sea Captain, War Figure Dies

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Capt. Eldridge B. Semmes, 60, widely known in maritime circles, died here yesterday. He commanded the transport Bernard which raised the battleship Maine after it sank in Havana harbor in 1898, following an explosion that precipitated the Spanish-American War.

Finland Contradicts Methodist Critics

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A statement by the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals that Finland's recent prohibition referendum was "effected by outside pressure" was described yesterday as "entirely erroneous" by I. Astrom, the Finnish minister to the United States.

Penny Scales' Flattery Of Fair Dieters Stilled

Eighteen penny weighing machines which have flattered many a dieting woman patron by registering it is declared, weights from one to 30 pounds less than the truth, will flatter no more. The machines, seized in various parts of the city following complaints from reducing women, were confiscated by the City Bureau of Weights and Measures yesterday.

Certain dieters found no compliments forthcoming from their friends to support the evidence offered by the machines and complained to Supt. James Bailey, of the weights bureau, which began a drive on inaccurate machines.

Official scales showed the women were gaining instead of losing. Bailey termed the false scales a "highly profitable catch-penny racket."

5 COUNTY HEADS DROPPED AS NEW ADMINISTRATION BEGINS

3 DEPARTMENT DIRECTORS TO BE NAMED

Property Division Posts Eliminated Under Sprigle; Commissioners Fire Clerk

The new county administration with six directors of departments goes into effect today with three of the department heads yet to be named—the Director of Airport, Director of Parks and Director of Law Department.

With the assumption of the office of Ray Sprigle, Director of Property and Supplies, five former department heads have been eliminated. The Commissioners announced last night that the following had been dismissed and their jobs abolished: Justus Schroedel, Superintendent of Buildings; Michael J. Veroskey, purchasing agent; Howard Allen, superintendent of Motor Vehicles, and his assistant John E. Barnett, and P. J. Adams, superintendent of Liberty tunnels. All these departments are in Sprigle's bureau.

In making the announcement Commissioner Charles C. McGovern said:

"The removal of these men does not mean that their positions are going to be filled. They have been abolished. This action was necessary because, with Sprigle taking over the Department of Property and Supplies, there would have been another load on the payroll for the incumbents, had the dismissals not been effective today.

"Incidentally, I want to state that there is no need for every man out of work in Allegheny County rushing into the Commissioners' office, for we have no jobs to give out."

John P. Zimmerman, clerk in the County Commissioners' office, was also dismissed.

'MERCY KILLER' OF SON FACES SANITY TEST

Jury Orders Examination, Returns No Indictment In Death of Ill Baby Boy

MILLERSBURG, O., Jan. 16. — (AP.) — The puzzling ethics of a father which caused him to kill his 2-year-old son because the child was mentally defective, were involved today in the decision of an Ohio grand jury, submitting the parent to a sanity test instead of a murder indictment.

Meanwhile, the father, James Stenhouse, of Killbuck, O., maintained:

"I know I did right; I would do it again."

He was held in jail pending the examination by psychiatrists.

Stenhouse confessed to Sheriff John A. Stevens several days ago that he killed the boy with chloroform two years ago to spare his wife from grief, after surgeons pronounced the child's brain infection as incurable.

DRUNK DURING ACT

The father said he administered the chloroform one night when he returned home, intoxicated, and found the child in a stupor. He had waited three weeks, he said, for enough courage to commit the act. His wife was ill in another room at the time.

After a doctor issued a certificate that the child died from the brain infection, Stenhouse told his story to his wife, and she advised him not to tell anyone else. It disturbed and grieved him, however, until last week he told his 13-year-old daughter, Ellen. She did not seem to understand the motive, and the father, fearing the girl would reveal his act, then decided to tell the Sheriff.

SANITY PROBE ORDERED

The 15 men and women of the grand jury pondered the problem five days before they reached their decision. It called only for the sanity hearing and for confinement in an asylum in the event insanity is established.

Stenhouse, a stonecutter, came to this vicinity from Pennsylvania four years ago. He served four years with the Royal Engineers of the British Army and entered the United States from Toronto, Canada.

YOUNG BANDIT ROBS STORE IN TWO VISITS

Threatens Woman With Gun, Seizes Bills; Returns in Ten Minutes for Silver

Police today were seeking a youthful robber who held up Mrs. Olive Smith in her grocery store, 1020 West North avenue, twice in 10 minutes and escaped with $30. The youth was armed with a revolver and a blackjack, Mrs. Smith said.

Mrs. Smith told police the youth on his first visit bought $1.50 worth of groceries, then drew a revolver and said:

"Keep still, I don't want to have to shoot you."

TAKES BILLS, SILVER

He pushed her into a rear room and rifled the cash register of paper money. Ten minutes later, he returned and said:

"I'm not through here yet; don't move."

He fled the second time after taking the silver money from the cash drawer.

Nick Janaig, 260 Eighth street, West Homestead, and Patrick Condon, 811 Inwood street, were recovering today from beatings inflicted by robbers who took 50 cents from each. Janaig was attacked near the Sheridan restaurant, 6200 Penn avenue, where he is employed, and Condon in Sackett way.

AUTO STOLEN, BURNED

Carl Dye, of Lincoln place, reported the theft of his automobile, which was found burned several hours later at the foot of an embankment, near the Municipal Airport.

Several employes of the Bon Ton barbecue, Rodi road, near the William Penn highway, were threatened by two bandits who held up the place and escaped with $35, according to county detectives.

Three men held up George McDonald, 4414 Penn avenue, at Foster and Ammond streets and took his automobile and a small amount of money. Later men answering the same description robbed Ralph Seigal, 122 Woodfield street, of $7 in Devonshire street.

JAPAN UPHOLDS OPEN DOOR IN U. S. REPLY

Changed Conditions Bring New Conception of Policy, Tokio Informs Stimson

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service.

TOKIO, Jan. 16. — Japan today replied to the American note on Manchuria, declaring she would do all in her power to maintain the "open door" policy in China and stating she entertained no territorial ambitions in Manchuria.

She added, however, that a changed situation in China has necessitated a new conception of how to carry out the "open door" policy, one different than that assumed with the signing of the nine-power treaty in Washington.

Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa made public the reply as he delivered it to American Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes for dispatch to Washington.

In regard to the references to the Kellogg pact and the nine-power treaty made in Secretary of State Stimson's formal protest, the statement declared the United States may rely upon Japan to fulfill her obligations under these pacts insofar as legality of treaty rights of the United States is concerned.

The note said Japan regarded as a cardinal feature of Far East politics maintenance of the "open door" policy in China and regretted present unsettled conditions there prevented its effectiveness.

It added in regard to this, that treaties relating to China must be applied with due regard to conditions prevailing there.

Clash of Japanese And Russians Forecast

PEIPING, Jan. 16 — (INS.) — Japanese forces will clash with those of Soviet Russia in North Manchuria within three months, an American observer returning from Harbin declared today.

The American said the general belief prevailed there that an outbreak of hostilities was inevitable and that neither Japanese nor Russians attempted to conceal their mutual preparations for a conflict.

The Soviet government particularly has prepared for fighting, he reported, having mobilized its officers of the class of 1896 and having notified others to hold themselves in continual readiness.

CARRIED RICHES IN PAPER BAG

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ida E. Wood, millionaire recluse, astonished relatives yesterday with a story of how she once toured Africa with nearly $700,000 in a paper bag tied to her wrist.

Since she was discovered recently living so meagerly she was undernourished in a hotel room with nearly $1,000,000 tucked away in drawers and trunks and cracked vases, she has improved noticeably under care. At 93 her mind is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Wood still suffers from the fear she will be a pauper. She asks how much each meal costs. If it is more than $1 she refuses it, so the nurses set the price under that amount.

Woman Finds Mate Remarried After 34-Year Search

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16 — (AP.) — A woman who searched for 34 years for her husband, only to find him remarried in Philadelphia — father of six children and grandfather of three—asked Domestic Relations Court today for a support order.

The woman, Mrs. Leah Gliner, charged her husband, Simon, deserted her in Russia in 1897. The husband answered that he had obtained a divorce in Russia 33 years ago but had lost the papers. He pleaded a support order would make his second marriage bigamous.

Judge Lewis fixed things up by ordering him to pay $3 a week "voluntary contribution" to a court officer who would pass it on to Mrs. Gliner.

POST AND WIFE FLY HERE

Wylie Post and his 'round-the-world plane, "Winnie Mae," en route to New York from Oklahoma City, landed at Bettis Field yesterday to await improved flying weather.

The famed pilot is to be nominated to receive the gold medal of the International Aero Federation for the most distinguished service to aviation during 1931.

Post's partner on the flight, Harold Gatty, yesterday was chosen by the Army as its senior aerial navigation engineer at Wright Field, Dayton, O. The War Department labeled him as "probably the best aerial navigator in the world."

With Post was his wife.

At Bettis Field the Posts and their craft attracted a crowd of air-minded folk. The flier said he would land in New York two hours after the takeoff at Bettis Field.

LAST MAN CLUB SURVIVOR ILL

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Jan. 16 — (AP.) — The last man of the Last Man's Club is ill.

Charles Lockwood, 89, only survivor of the Civil War veterans group, is suffering from a leg blood clot. Physicians said his condition was not critical, but that he would remain in bed a few months.

Thirty-four members of Company B, First Minnesota Infantry, formed the club at Stillwater, Minn., in 1884. They held banquets there annually on July 2, the anniversary of the battle of Bull Run.

Erie Mayor Urges City Manager Plan

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—James P. Rossiter, Mayor of Erie, urged adoption of the city manager plan yesterday. He pointed out that Dayton, O., had reduced its taxes one-third under a city manager and said tax slicing is impossible under the present system.

Fined for Stealing Furs From Brother

Commission Men Elect Pittsburgher

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Jan. 16. —(AP.)—The National League of Commission Merchants closed its convention here yesterday with selection of Baltimore, Md., as the 1933 convention city, and re-elected Robert P. Blair, of Cleveland, as president. George Labury, of Pittsburgh, and Aubrey Milam, of Atlanta, were elected vice presidents. Edward L. Frost, of Richmond, was named secretary.

9 Drown as Ship Capsizes in River

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 16. — (AP.)—Nine persons, one of them the captain's daughter, drowned yesterday after the steamer Santa Clara capsized in the San Francisco River off Mucambo Dovento, in the state of Minas Geraes. The girl was sleeping in her cabin while her father fought desperately to save his ship.

PITT SCALPING WAR CLOSED

There was no indication on the University of Pittsburgh campus today that any of the 100 students, among them eight co-eds, whose student athletic tickets were confiscated, would make any effort to secure their return.

W. Don Harrison, athletic director, ordered the tickets seized after alleged "ticket scalping" at the Pitt-Duquesne University basketball game had been reported. He said they broke an agreement with the school by selling their tickets to professional brokers.

Demands for tickets were so great that the 50-cent student tickets were sold for as high as $2.50, it was said. Ticket books are issued to the students when they pay their tuition.

Bandits Kidnap Man, Miss $2,000 Payroll

BOSTON, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—His hands and feet tied, Patrick J. Griffith, of Medford, was found late yesterday near Franklin Park, where he was thrown by three bandits who had kidnaped him in his automobile. Griffith told police the bandits took a small amount of cash he had in his pocket, as he did not have with him a $2,000 payroll he usually carries.

DIAL EXCHANGE TO BE OPENED

A new dial central office, to be known as "Fremont," will be placed in service by the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania at midnight tonight.

Approximately 500 subscribers now served by the Hiland central office will begin to receive dial service through the new Fremont equipment at that hour. A few subscribers in the Emerson and Montrose central office areas also will have Fremont numbers after the transition is completed tonight.

Preparations for tonight's dial "cutover," as it is technically known, have required a total outlay of $136,700, Bell officials said. Most of this was devoted to installation of the new dial equipment in the company's building at 1026 Hay street, Wilkinsburg.

Pastor Conducts Farewell Service

FLOODS PERIL THOUSANDS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 16 — (INS.) — A vast section of the Mississippi delta region was swept by surging flood waters today, endangering the lives of thousands of persons.

Fresh breaks in levees sent additional avalanches of water over the countryside.

The newest break was in the Patterson Bayou levee, eight miles south of Charleston, Miss., where a wall of water 15 feet high hurtled through a gap in the dam.

Having already inundated some 100,000 acres, the deluge was characterized by pioneer residents as the worst in the history of the region. A new levee break was expected today one mile south of Charleston.

Rescue work, meanwhile, continued apace in the stricken Mississippi counties of Tallahatchee, Sunflower and Leflore, whose lowlands were swept by an eight-foot layer of water rushing through a break in the main levee of the Tallahatchee River. Red Cross and flood commission workers were laboring feverishly to evacuate some 5,000 inhabitants of this region from the flooded area.

Still on Piles Over Flooded River Raided

MARKED TREE, Ark., Jan. 16 — (AP.) — A huge liquor still erected 25 feet above the St. Francis River flood waters on a giant platform, has been seized by prohibition officers.

The platform, with an area of approximately half an acre, was constructed on pilings in the river bottoms 10 miles northeast of here.

Song Plagiarizing Charged to Crosby

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Bing Crosby, stage and radio singer, has been made defendant in a Federal District Court suit by Serge Walter and Ross Mobley, authors of the song, "Jealous."

They claim that "At Your Command," that Crosby sings, is a plagiarism of it. Harry Tomas and Harry Barri, who composed "At Your Command," are joint defendants.

STUDENTS BALK AT DANCE BAN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 15 — (AP.) — The disciplining of students who attended a dance in violation of rules has resulted in a "civil disobedience" campaign at Knoxville College for Negroes.

Leaders of the campaign said 250 students were participating following their dismissal by Dr. J. Kelly Giffin, white president of the institution, who they said demanded that all students re-enroll or leave school.

It all started, Eugene Johnson, student council president, said, when 40 students were reprimanded by the college for attending a dance and an investigation begun into the alleged throwing of a vase of water at a white matron.

The college, whose faculty is composed largely of white members is supported by the United Presbyterian Church.

ZOO LIONS BASK IN VIOLET RAYS

When wild animals lose their wildness, there's something wrong. Thus argue the engineers of the Westinghouse Lamp Company in prescribing ultra violet ray treatment for the lions and tigers in Highland Park Zoo who have become as listless as aged house cats.

For the first time, the engineers are giving their ultra violet ray treatment to large tropical animals suffering from lack of sunlight. Yesterday a number of special "animal" lamps were installed in the cages in Highland Park by courtesy of the Westinghouse Company.

If Pittsburgh's lions respond favorably to the lamp treatment, the engineers believe, one of the most difficult problems of the world's indoor zoos will have been solved.

OFFICER CITED IN PLAY RAID

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Art and morality, severally represented by the "Lysistrata" stage show cast and the police vice squad, crossed swords in court yesterday, and art apparently had the best of the day.

Capt. D. McD. Jones, generalissimo of the police purity detail, was cited by Superior Judge Harry Archbald for contempt for raiding the show a second time Thursday night while it was under protection of an injunction issued after the first raid January 7. In addition, Sheriff's deputies, at the court's order, were detailed to protect the theater against the police, Jones is due for a hearing Tuesday.

The captain charges that an indecent performance results from the modernized re-enactment of the ancient Greek play. "Lysistrata" is played here by Nance O'Neil.

Soldier Indicted For Wife's Murder

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—The Richmond County grand jury today indicted Albert C. Smith, formerly a sergeant in the Ordnance Department, U. S. A., charging him with first degree murder. The indictment charges that on January 1, last, Smith, then in military service, shot and killed his wife, Elsie, in his quarters in the non-commissioned officers' row at Millers Field, Staten Island. Smith, who disappeared after his wife's body was found, has been listed as a deserter.

St. Francis Xavier Returned to Tomb

GOA, Portuguese India, Jan. 16, —(AP.)— The embalmed body of St. Francis Xavier was replaced in its silver sarcophagus yesterday after having been exposed for 40 days during which 2,000,000 pilgrims from all over the world filed past it and kissed the feet in the church of Bom Jesus.

Thousands of miracles were reported to have occurred during the 40 days and the church officials will publish a full list of them after verification.

England Bans U. S. Actor After 5 Years

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Ben Welden, an American, is the latest victim of the Ministry of Labor's ban on foreign actors. Welden, who has been acting here for five years and is married to an English girl, was informed yesterday that no more appearances will be permitted.

Weather Conditions.

The high that was centered over the central plains yesterday morning is now centered over the lower lakes and covers the entire northeastern section of the country. Over the western states pressure is relatively low, with centers over Colorado and the extreme Northwest. This pressure distribution is causing cloudy weather over practically the entire country and rain over Indiana, Southern Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and southward to Southern Texas. There was a marked drop in temperature over the states east of the Mississippi River, while over the plains states it is not as cold as yesterday morning. Below zero weather prevails over North Dakota, Montana and Wyoming and northward over Saskatchewan and Manitoba. In this section the temperature will not change much over Sunday.

River Conditions.

PRAYERS ASKING AID FOR JOBLESS TO BE CONTINUED

MANY APPEALS RESULT IN ACTION

East End Church to Hold Special Afternoon Service; Evangelist Leads Meeting

Because hundreds made additional appeals for prayer to relieve the unemployment situation, a special prayer service will be held tomorrow afternoon in Christ Reformed Church, Hamilton and North Lang avenues, by the Rev. Luther A. Horn.

The meeting follows the 24-hour prayer service which terminated at 9 p. m. yesterday. Of which unemployment distress was the keynote.

The Rev. Horn said:

"Distress is so widespread in this district that we feel that the time has come to cease protecting the man higher up.

"The solution we believe will be in God's way and He can put it into the hearts and minds of those who are sidestepping the issue to bring about speedy relief."

Delegates were present at the 24-hour service from districts within a 25-mile radius of Pittsburgh.

Patricia Pitt

Of paramount interest to society throughout the East is the wedding taking place at 12:30 o'clock today at which Elizabeth Browning Donner, daughter of the William H. Donners, of Camp Woods, Villa Nova, Pa., and Philadelphia, is to become the bride of Elliott Roosevelt, son of Gov. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York. Twenty-five hundred invitations have been sent.

The ceremony is taking place in the Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr. The bride who is being given in marriage by her father is wearing an exquisite period wedding gown of flesh-tinted lace over pale pink satin. The sleeves of lace are puffed at the shoulder and flared at the wrists. Her veil of flesh-colored tulle and rose point lace cascades from a coronet of pearls, and her flowers are calla lilies.

Bridal Party

Mrs. Curtis B. Dall, of New York, sister of the bridegroom-elect, is matron of honor, and Katherine Norwood Rodgers, sister of the bride, maid of honor.

Dora Donner, another sister of the bride, Marion Winsor, Martha Hare, Elizabeth Hood, Frances B. Shober, all of Philadelphia, and Elizabeth Marston, of New York, are bridesmaids.

The flower girls are Anna Eleanor Dall, daughter of the Curtis B. Dalls, and Dora B. Stewart, daughter of the John Stewarts, of Radnor, Pa.

In Gowns Of Silver

The matron of honor and the maid of honor wore gowns of silver in the Empire mode fashioned with brief puffed sleeves and long, flowing skirts. The girdles of silver are lined with blue velvet. Their hats are of blue velvet trimmed with flesh-colored Prince of Wales tips. Flesh-toned velvet with blue velvet girdles marking the high waist-line were worn by the bridesmaids, with blue velvet Empire bonnets trimmed with flesh toned Prince of Wales tips. All the bride's attendants are carrying white gardenias.

The little flower girls are in Empire frocks of eggshell taffeta, and have cream-colored taffeta bonnets with long streamers.

The mother of the bride has chosen dark mauve velvet and a mauve velvet chapeau. Mrs. Roosevelt, mother of the bridegroom, is wearing a blue with a hat of brown and blue.

James Roosevelt, elder brother of the bridegroom, is best man, and Curtis B. Dall, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and John A. Roosevelt, brothers of the bridegroom, James Mason, David Rawle, James R. Leonard, John A. Bross, Robert Donner and Ralph Hitchcock, all of New York; E. Wallace Mathews, Floyd M. Coates, John Stewart, brother-in-law of the bride, all of Philadelphia, are ushers.

Men In Party

For the ceremony the altar of the church is decorated with calla lilies against a background of ferns, used in the side windows as well as on either side of the chancel. Officiating is Canon Ernest C. Isarp, pastor of the church.

The bridal party is to receive the guests in the Donner home after the ceremony in front of a beautiful tapestry, banked on either side with ferns. The mantel and fireplace are banked with ferns.

Buffet Tables

The two buffet tables, one in the dining room and the other on the enclosed terrace have tall, slender vases of calla lilies. The bride's table in the loggia is decorated with low silver vases holding white spring flowers and ferns.

After their honeymoon Mr. Roosevelt and his bride will be at home in Park avenue.

Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the Governor, were entertained last night at a dinner given by Mrs. Edward Browning.

The town of Donora was named for the father of the bride. He is a former president of the Cambria Steel Company, and was the founder of the Donner Steel Company, sold recently to Eaton interests.

FASHION WORLD RETURNS TO CREPE DE CHINE GARMENTS

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—Isn't it good that after we have tried all sorts of novelties and experiments that we can always return to the grand old standbys? It's like going places and seeing things and then returning to find home best after all. And so it is in the sartorial world. All sorts of grand new weaves and fabrics, and back we come to good old crepe de chine, that old reliable that has done duty for so long. For early spring wear, black crepe de chine frocks, little models that are big in style and chic are being favored. And a couple of such frocks in the wardrobe will quickly reveal themselves as real life-savers, as they can be worn for almost any occasion, fitting into any setting with ease and distinction. These dresses are simple in effect with all sorts of cunning devices and details to create an unobtrusive charm. Trimmings of white and touches of color add a pleasing contrast to the all-black effect and sets off the frock beautifully.

* * *

PRESENTED TODAY are a couple of sketches featuring black crepe de chine frocks done by Madame Jenny. Typical of the mode is the pleating. The deep panels at the front, sides and back of the skirt are laid in close fan-pleating with a broken effect midway down the folds, giving an interesting design to the pleating. Pointed pieces are worked vertically on the sleeves and there are cuffs and a deep collar of embroidered white tulle trimmed with tiny tulle frills.

* * *

THE OTHER FROCK has three incrusted petals of colored crepe, one orange, one yellow and white. These edge one side of the decolletage, while the opposite side has a narrow facing of white crepe. The bodice has shirred folds slightly to one side. The long, close sleeves are set into a drop shoulder seam forming a point over the upper arm.

EXOTIC LADIES :-: Hollywood Studios Get More Foreign Names :-: AMUSEMENTS :-: Critics Talk About The New Talkies

Gwili Andre, Danish Model, Newest Importation To Screenland

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 16.

And still they come, these exotic ladies with their foreign names.

With Sari Maritza scarcely established, Hollywood is promised another thrill in Gwili Andre, Danish artists' model, whom R. K. O. has just put under contract in New York.

Though Miss Andre has had neither screen nor stage experience her blonde beauty is said to have inspired numerous magazine covers within the past two seasons.

Jack Gilbert

She reports in Hollywood Feb. 1, having first to complete some modeling contracts. Once she is introduced to the mysteries of the camera, David Selznick, R. K. O.'s confident magician, will undertake to transform her into a foreign star. I am assured she will start right out playing leads.

HOLLYWOOD DOINGS

Film stars have objected so strenuously to the informal flashlights taken at recent parties that no photographers will be allowed at the next Mayfair. Sari Maritza, Paramount's new foreign star, has a feminine manager, Vivian Gaye, who is almost as good to look upon as the actress herself. . . . Gary Cooper has tired of exploring the Nile and will bag a few lions in the big game country. His leave of absence is up in March. . . . Study in relativity: Prof. Albert Einstein and Jimmy Durante were guests at Palm Springs over the week-end. . . . Official beggar of the M-G-M lot is Buster Keaton's Saint Bernard dog, Elmer. After eating at Buster's bungalow, he daily makes the rounds to Louis B. Mayer's kitchen, then to Jack Gilbert's and finally to the studio commissary. He makes his presence known to bargains on the back doors. . . . And now another use for cellophane: Bert Wheeler pastes strips of it under his eyes and when the picture comes out on the screen it looks as if he has been crying.

Gary Cooper

MARIAN AS SCHOOLMARM

Adding a bit to my story about Marian Nixon's comeback at Fox. She'll be seen before long in "Little Teacher," Harry James Smith's story of a Vermont schoolmarm.

James Dunn, one of 1931's real screen finds, will play opposite her.

Incidentally, I gave the wrong title to Marian's immediate vehicle at Fox. It is "Scotch Valley," not "Scott's Valley."

Two Players Loaned

Samuel Goldwyn has loaned two of his contract players to Paramount, one at the Astoria studios and the other in Hollywood.

Melvyn Douglas is involved in the first. The young stage player, having made his debut opposite Gloria Swanson in "Tonight or Never," at the Rialto, followed by "Prestige" with Ann Harding, will continue his association and co-stardom with Claudette Colbert, under which he is currently making "The Wiser Sex," by a picture version of "The Misleading Lady." It will follow "The Wiser Sex" at the Astoria studios and will keep Mr. Douglas occupied until late March, when Mr. Goldwyn plans to bring him back to Hollywood. A return to the speaking stage at present is unlikely.

Mr. Goldwyn's loan of Lily Damita to the Hollywood Paramount studios for work with Maurice Chevalier in "One Hour With You" will be extended to permit her to make a story with music, to be announced later by Paramount. Charles Ruggles and Roland Young will appear with Mlle. Damita in what may be her last picture away from the Goldwyn studios.

William Haines Is Cast In McEvoy's Story

William Haines will have the leading role when "Are You Listening?" goes into production at the Culver City studios of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer under the direction of Harry Beaumont. Others already selected for the cast include Madge Evans, Anita Page, Joan Marsh, Wallace Ford, Karen Morley, Maude Eburne and Louise Carter. "Are You Listening?" is an adaptation to the screen of J. P. McEvoy's well-known novel of the same name.

100 Jailed Rebels Liberated in Cuba

HAVANA, Jan. 16. — (AP) — About 100 prisoners taken in the rebellion of last August were liberated yesterday under the general amnesty order which President Machado signed. They were the last of the men imprisoned for political offenses in connection with that revolt.

Sport Stars In Metro News

THE GLOBE TROTTER

The best performances of some of the star athletes who will participate in the 1932 Olympics next summer are presented in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News being seen in the Penn, Fulton and other theaters. Charley Paddock, once called "the fastest human," is training for a comeback. Frank Wykoff, of Southern California; Simpson, of Ohio State, crack runner; Sentman, of Illinois, high hurdler, and Fred Sturdy, ex-Yale star pole vaulter, also demonstrate their great ability. There are interesting descriptions of their achievements by the Globe Trotter.

A herd of 700 buffalo in Yellowstone Park are shown being saved from a raging blizzard by cowboys. The terror-stricken animals plunge madly along until they are safely quartered.

GERMANS MARCH

Although the German army isn't what it used to be, the troops stage spectacular battle maneuvers near Frankfort. Cavalry and machine gunners engage in sham battle, which abounds with thrills.

"I will do my level best to serve the United States and the Philippine people," declares Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., immediately after his appointment as Governor General of the Islands by President Hoover. Daniel J. Davis, of St. Louis, no jr. Cleveland, congratulates Roosevelt.

Determined to forget the trials and tribulations of 1931, 10,000 London folk make merry at the Chelsea Arts ball held in Royal Albert Hall.

MECHANICAL HEN

"Bedella" is one of the most important personages in the life of America, according to the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. "Bedella" represents the American hen and the department has fitted up a gigantic mechanical model of "Bedella" which shows just how eggs are produced.

Wrestling has gone collegiate and at the New York Coliseum Sammy Stein, former gridiron star, and Bill Middlekauf, engage in a contest that leaves you wondering which of the two sports, wrestling or football, they are indulging in.

Lilli Gyenes, gypsy violinist, gives a performance at the Ronacher Theater in Vienna. She is accompanied by members of an Austrian gypsy tribe, of which she is a member.

Pittsburgh B. & O. Agent Promoted

The appointment of Franklin A. Markley, district freight agent for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Pittsburgh, to division freight agent of the railroad, succeeding the late W. E. Magill, was announced today. He became connected with the B. & O. in 1896, and has served in Toledo and Buffalo. He was transferred to this city in 1911.

Accused of Fatal Train Wreck, Held

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Jan. 16. — (AP) — Charged with tampering with brakes and causing a train wreck that fatally injured a man, Harrison Carter, 25, was held under $1,000 bond today awaiting grand jury action.

Authorities say he shut off the airbrakes on a Norfolk and Western Railroad freight train near Lindsey, January 17, and 16 steel coal cars telescoped. Ballard Blankenship, 25, of Linsey, a trespasser on railroad property, was fatally injured.

Death of Dog Halts Auto Record Attempt

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 16 — (AP) — The death of his pet dog, Bonzo, a brown and white cattle mutt, is delaying the attempt of Norman (Wizard) Smith to break the world's automobile speed record now held by Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Smith left Bonzo in Sydney when he brought his racing car, Enterprise, to Ninety-mile Beach for the record attempt. The dog refused to touch food and finally died.

Esther Ralston Sued By Bath Manager

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—(AP)—Esther Ralston, screen actress, and her husband, George Webb, were sued in Superior Court yesterday for $25,500 by George L. Henson, chiropractor.

Henson charges he was employed under a long term contract to supervise a Hollywood bathing establishment owned by them at a salary of $300 a month, but was discharged in violation of the agreement.

Two Sallys Appear in Stanley

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

James Dunn and Sally Eilers are together again. They meet before Ginsberg's radio store and, while a city hurries by, they break into a sidewalk dance. If this would happen in real life, someone would call the wagon. But out in Hollywood, well . . .

Anyway, Mr. Dunn and Miss Eilers are reunited in the romance. And this is the important thing! Their new picture is titled "Dance Team." It's the Stanley feature.

Not as poignantly human as their "Bad Girl," not as poignantly sentimental as their "Over the Hill," the new picture is an amusing piece of entertainment.

The story concerns a boy and a girl who dream of becoming the world's greatest dancers.

MOUTHFUL OF QUIPS

The dialogue writers have filled Mr. Dunn's mouth with a fresh line of bright quips. And he himself has given his character an ego that is a pleasure to witness. Though he takes a couple of awful wallops on the nose, the only swelling is in his head.

The film really has him as a jack-of-all-trades. Besides doing the light fantastic, he digs a ditch, sells Coney Island hot dogs and barks from a sightseeing bus.

As for Miss Eilers, she has more charm than ever.

ON THE STAGE

Dick Powell does a lot of individual work in his new stage show, "Broadway Star Revue." His singing voice has developed a lot in recent months. In the current show he gives an imitation of Rudy Vallee and Bing Crosby that is a little knockout, at least. Sally Starr, a screen personality girl, makes an appearance in person as the big feature. Like all visiting Hollywoodites she gets that great big hand. Three Sailors do some goofy antics. Block and Sully, two steps ahead of the asylum keepers, spill a lot of nonsense. Other entertainers include the dancing Casa and Lane, 16 chorus girls, Bernie Armstrong and his organ, and David Broudy's overture.

CONVICTS FIGHT IN PRISON YARD

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—(INS)—A pitched battle in the recreation yard of the New Jersey State Prison, in which two convicts were injured severely by stab wounds and five others were hurt slightly, was under investigation today by prison authorities.

A keen-bladed table knife, a potato paring knife and safety razor blades were used during the melee, whose cause was attributed to enmity of inmates against one of their number.

Charles Griffen, 30, and Julius Caille, 23, both of Paterson, N. J., were slashed when five prisoners attacked Griffen and Caille sought to aid him.

Investigators believed the convicts had marked Griffen for death because he attacked a guard some time ago.

Wilkinsburg Youth Hurt in Auto Crash

David Tucker, 21, of 577 Rosedale street, Wilkinsburg, was in the Braddock General Hospital today suffering severe lacerations of the chest received, police said, when an automobile which he was driving crashed into a pole at Greendale and Braddock avenues, Swissvale, last night.

Song for a Departure

Take with you all the starlight, all the moons
On which we gazed, and take each vivid day
We spent together, all the joyous Junes
We loved and lock them somewhere—far away.

I have no need of them since you must go,
They have become quite useless, dear to me.
They were a frame for joy we used to know;
A background for remembered ecstasy.

Now I shall have no time for little flights
Into the land of make-believe. My days
Must be rebuilt away from lovely heights,
Down on the earth among prosaic ways.

I shall not weep, nor empty pity crave,
What happiness we had will make me brave.
—Kathleen Lamb.

Squelch

When Christopher Morley, one of the better word-jugglers and squelchers, was lecturing before a college of girls not long ago—he announced that he would donate a rare first edition to the most intelligent lass in the audience.

After the elocuting, Mr. Morley was surrounded by the girls who waited in line for his autograph. One of the more anxious ones, Jane Franklin, asked Morley how he intended choosing the most intelligent girl for the trophy.

"That will go," said Morley, "to the girl who didn't ask for my signature!"

What the Baby Said

When Tallulah Bankhead was making flickers at the local Paramount Studios—Vina Delmar the author, was there with her 7-year-old son. He was introduced to Miss Bankhead, and being a mannerly boy, he asked:

"What picture are you making?"

"Tarnished Lady," replied the talented Tallulah.

Then Vina and her son went ankling to the Park. He was silent all the way. Suddenly he chirped:

"Mother, I know what 'tarnished' means, but what does 'Tarnished Lady' mean?"

Vina was stumped for a moment. She finally caught her breath and replied:

"It means, 'not bright,' darling."

Haw!

Last summer Mickey Cochrane and J. G. Taylor Spink of The Sporting News were about to enter an open taxi in New York when a musician friend of the baseball star hailed him. The musician was toting a mountain-sized horn—a tuba to you! Cochrane and Spink invited him along.

The huge instrument took up most of the taxi space and the cabbie perspired freely helping to fit it into his chariot. Imagine, then, his burnup when upon reaching their destination—the musician insisted upon paying the fare—50 cents! And no tip!

"What's the idear?" grumbled the cabbie, holding out his palm containing the two quarters.

"Well," was the indifferent reply of the horn-tooter and toter, "that's what your meter read!"

"Aw!" screamed the taxi driver, as he pointed to the Primo Carnera tuba: "what about your lousy flute?"

Squire to Face Trial On Extortion Charge

Justice of the Peace John Metz, of Kennedy Township, and Constable Edward Brubach, of Ben Avon, accused of seven charges of extortion and conspiracy, were held for court in $3,500 bond each last night by Justice of the Peace Margaret Morgan in Sewickley.

Seven persons testified that they had been arrested by the constable and fined at hearings by the justice. Evidence was produced to prove that the justice, in addition to keeping the costs, which is his right, did not turn over to the county the collected amount of the fines.

Mail Load Carried In Passenger Plane

A tri-motored Ford passenger plane, pressed into service as a mail plane at Kansas City because of excessive air mail, stopped at Bettis Field late yesterday on its flight to New York with a record load weighing 1,500 pounds. The plane, a Transcontinental and Western Airways ship piloted by George Zimmerman, of Kansas City, was the first passenger ship to be used for transfer of excessive mail, field officials said.

Woman Cites Woes In Divorce Suit

Mrs. Florence Muschick, of 909 Suismon street, was forced to sit on a hot stove by her husband, Paul August Muschick, of Laurel Gardens, she testified in her divorce suit before Judge Frank P. Patterson in Common Pleas Court. Muschick hit her when she refused to push their automobile out of mud, she testified. They were married in November, 1915, and parted last September. They have five children.

Hell Divers Big Thrill In Penn

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Here is another thing for the Senate to investigate! The U. S. Navy has gone Hollywood, and "Hell Divers," at the Penn this week, uses all the facilities of Uncle Sam to produce a big thrill for everybody and to create sentiment for "the greatest game in the world." While "Hell's Angels" was a war picture, this one plays in the piping times of peace. But one of the fliers loses an arm, and Wallace Beery gets killed in the finish. They give him a fine naval funeral, with a real sermon, so all is as it should be.

George Seibel

Aside from the spectacular features—bombing battleship targets, with squadrons of planes dipping and looping, big guns roaring and motors whirring—"Hell Divers" has a good character portrayal by Wallace Beery and the angelic Clark Gable as himself. There isn't much of a story, but many "socks in the jaw" and much lip profanity which tests the audience as lip readers.

In the stage show, which is mostly very expert dancing and fine lighting effects, there is a pair of comedians who have some new gags. The next bore we meet will be told to "Go outside and let something happen to you."

Canada Living Cost Down 15 Per Cent

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 16. (AP)—Cost of living in Canada has dropped more than 15 per cent during the past two years, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported. This is the second largest decrease among the principal nations, the United States leading with a drop of 16.5 per cent.

Sheriff Offers Spies $1 Gallon on Stills

ALBION, Ill., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Sheriff Oscar Harper, of Edwards County is going on a still hunt, with a new idea—He's going to pay by the gallon.

If you give the Sheriff information leading to the seizure of a still with a capacity for one gallon your reward will be $1, or if it's a 25-gallon affair you'll get $25 and so on up the line.

Huston Gets Wife by Mail

By MILDRED FILLMORE

Walter Huston, once a gentleman in "Gentlemen of the Press" and later the screen's Abraham Lincoln, now is a fisherman—in fact, he's the featured fisherman in "A House Divided," new film in both the Davis and the Enright.

Here is a drama of domestic life, laid against the brusque, barren background of a rock-bound coast.

Mr. Huston fishes for salmon in the sea and for a wife in a mail-order catalog. And it can be said he should have kept to the sea.

His mail-order wife turns out to be a young girl, while he is the father of a grown son. And therein lies the plot. Need we tell you why the house is divided?

Helen Chandler, an unusual actress in many ways, and Kent Douglas portray the roles of young wife and son.

Mr. Huston, always an interesting actor, gives an impressive study of a man born to the sea.

The picture has good atmosphere and scenic settings.

Gene Tunney, The Candidate With a Punch

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Just got some tasty information from our inside man on outdoor sports.

Gene Tunney is going in for a load of politics and will run for Congress on the 24-foot platform.

The champ will represent Connecticut in Washington and may even take a little of Rhode Island.

His campaign slogan will be, "A Man May Be Down But He's Never Counted Out."

They say Gene is the ideal statesman type. He has already practiced dedicating cornerstones, kissing grandfathers and giving cigars to babies.

Forgot to mention that Gene will be a Democrat. Which means that some day we may have a president who will be inaugurated in a bathrobe and take the office by shadowboxing with the chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Hughes had better start doing some roadwork.

IRON ORE DROP HITS GREAT NORTHERN

Tonnage Sharply Reduced As Result of Steel Lull; Earned $1.50 on Preferred

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—An improved operating showing in the closing quarter of 1931, due to further economies, should enable Great Northern to report for the year net income of roughly $3,800,000, equal to slightly more than $1.50 a share on the 2,489,794 preferred shares outstanding. Such a showing would mean that the corporation's fixed charges would be covered approximately 1.18 times.

In view of the low rate of business activity, the outlook for the current quarter hardly is encouraging. For the year as a whole prospects are more promising.

STEEL PROSPECTS

Great Northern, with ore tonnage one of its important sources of revenue, has suffered severely from the decline in this traffic. Steel operations for 1931 averaged 37.69 per cent of theoretical capacity, against an average of around 63 per cent for 1930. In 1930 the road handled 14,018,182 tons of iron ore against 19,540,625 tons in 1929, when steel operations averaged 89 per cent of theoretical capacity.

Indications are that steel operations during the first half of this year will not get above 45 per cent of capacity and that the upward move from the present low levels will be slow.

CURRENT QUARTER OFF

Ore movements in the current half year should reflect this slack condition. Northwest Shippers' Advisory Board estimates for the first quarter a decline of 28 per cent in loadings of ore and concentrates from the like 1931 period. Ore movement generally is small in the first quarter.

In steel circles, however, some have expressed the opinion that the final half of the year will show an improvement over the first six months. If such is the case, Great Northern will benefit substantially.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

England Reports Record Cotton Deals

LIVERPOOL, England, Jan. 16.—Cotton dealers said today the heaviest cotton business ever recorded in Great Britain was transacted here and at Manchester last Wednesday and Thursday when mills bought enough to satisfy their requirements up to next July.

All the available stock of Russian cotton now in this country, a total of 63,000 bales was sold to the Lancashire Cotton Corporation, they said, largely because of the high cost of American cotton.

100 MEN WORK ON PYMATUNING

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Nearly 100 men are at work on the Pymatuning Dam project and many more will be added next week.

Camp No. 1 at Espyville was opened Thursday. Camp No. 2 at Westford is under construction and two others are yet to be built. Workmen from a distance will be housed at the camps, while those residing near the dam site will live at their homes.

A total of 7,600 men have registered for work on the state project and workers from Meadville, Titusville, Erie and Sharon are now employed. Shifts will change periodically in order that all men registered may be given work.

Physicians Elect In Beaver County

BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 16.—Dr. I. L. Hunter, Midland, was elected president at the annual meeting of the Beaver County Medical Society. Other officers elected were: Vice presidents, Drs. M. M. Mackall and James L. Whitehill, Beaver; secretary-treasurer, Dr. B. B. Snodgrass, Rochester.

Defunct Broker's Client Sues Simmons

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—E. H. H. Simmons, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, has been named defendant in a suit for $1,250,000 filed in the Supreme Court by Harriet J. Raldiris, who accuses him of failing to compel Herman W. Booth to comply with the rules, constitution and by-laws of the Stock Exchange.

The action was revealed yesterday when Simmons applied for an order requiring the plaintiff to file a bill of particulars.

The plaintiff asserted that as a result of Simmons' alleged neglect, Booth, who was her broker, became insolvent and converted her stock so that she lost it.

Financial Setup of New Oil Company Impresses Wall Street

Those in Wall street who have looked over the setup of the new Consolidated Oil Corporation formed to merge Sinclair Consolidated, Prairie Oil and Gas and Prairie Pipe Lines, are impressed with the conversation which marks the financial setup of the new company. This is true especially insofar as the valuations fixed for the properties are concerned. Producing facilities, refineries, pipe lines, inventories, etc., have been scaled down materially, the current position shows assets in the ratio of 6½ to 1 to corresponding liabilities, with a large part of such quick assets composed of cash and government securities. The net total of assets indicated for the 14,218,835 common shares to be outstanding is calculated at $426,044,375.

With the new $5 cumulative preference stock authorized by shareholders, Columbia Gas and Electric directors ordered the first dividend payable in those shares on the common stock of the company. Payments will be made at the same rate cash disbursements had been made until now, that its at the rate of $1.50 annually. The purpose of the change, is of course, to conserve cash until the investment market is such as will permit of necessary new financing. The new preferred stock is convertible into common shares before February 15, 1937, at the rate of 1 preferred for 5 common shares on the basis of $20 a share for the common.

As a result of operating economies and lower expenses of conversion to mixed gas than anticipated, consolidated net income of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company for 1931 now seems likely to approximate the 1930 net income of $7,197,072. Earlier estimates indicated a net of about $6,740,000 for the full year.

One of the developments which has brought a better feeling has been the evidence that the best minds of the country are concentrating on various relief measures. Political bickering seems to have been replaced with constructive thinking and planning. Steps proposed should increase the supply of money and credit in circulation. This may lead to moderate inflation and bring further improvement in sentiment, which is considered one of the necessities if general business conditions are to become better gradually.

Sentiment has not changed. Conservative interests are satisfied with the action of the list and continue to favor scale accumulation of pivotal shares on technical reactions. They recommend the use of "stop" orders for those with long positions, with the limits somewhat below the points where individual stocks met the greatest resistance on their latest advance.

Many brokers report that United States Steel common has been most difficult to borrow in the past week. It is said there have been instances were 1,000 shares were wanted and it was necessary to shop around to get the stock certificates to make deliveries by the short sellers. Within a week the report on brokers and domestic holdings of Steel common will become public. This will show the extent of the floating supply recently and may explain the lack of shares for lending purposes as well as the fact that there has been a steady premium charged to the borrowers.

Hughes Rumored New Steel President

At the offices of United States Steel Corporation it has been impossible to get even an intimation as to the possible successor of James A. Farrell as president of the corporation. Middle Western steel interests believe the post may be offered to Sewell Lee Avery, now president of United States Gypsum Company.

The name of I. Lamont Hughes, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, continues to be heard when informal discussions are in progress. Also Eugene P. Thomas, vice president of the Steel Corporation, is mentioned as a possible successor to Farrell.

BUILDING-LOAN LEAGUE SEES REVIVAL

Country Wide Association Confident That Stage Is Set for Upturn This Year

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Increasing investments in some sections, plus a steady flow of repayments on mortgage loans, have led the nation's building and loan associations to anticipate 1932 receipts which will compare favorably with more prosperous years.

Summaries of January 1 reports from 25 state leagues of building and loan associations, made public today, show that loan payments by borrowers on homes "have held up better than the most optimistic leaders in the business had hoped for."

RECEIPTS INCREASE

The United States Building and Loan League, representing 44 state leagues whose 7,500 associations handle more than 80 per cent of the nation's $9,000,000,000 building and loan business, says money receipts indicated by those year-end summaries "set the 1932 stage for a marked revival of business confidence."

Activities of small investors, the league believes, will largely gauge the speed of business this year.

Large building and loan associations in such states as New York, California, Illinois, Colorado and Maine have reported that money invested with them since November 1 shows a decided increase over amounts invested for similar periods during the first nine months of 1931.

MEMBERSHIP GAINS

Building and loan associations generally, the league reports, are confident that 1932 receipts from new members will be greater than in 1931. The volume of new shareholders joining associations in 1931 points to a gain in total memberships over the figure at the end of 1930, when building and loan investors exceeded 12,350,000.

Associations whose business is financing homes, the league points out, have entered the new year standing on their own feet, with freedom from obligations to banks in most cases.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Decline

Quiet Week-End Here

PROFIT-TAKING SENDS STOCK LIST OFF

Selling Light With Most Changes Fractional, but Few Sag 1 to 2 Points

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The stock market yielded to pressure of week-end profit-taking in the early dealings today.

Selling was light, and most changes were fractional, but a few issues were off 1 to 2 points by the end of the first half hour, including Allied Chemical, American Can, Case, American Telephone and New York Central. United States Steel sagged nearly a point.

The dollar's recent weakness against European currencies is attributed to uneasiness abroad as to the possibilities of inflation here and is apparently based, bankers point out, on a misinterpretation of the Federal Reserve's easy money program. Europe's own experiences with violent inflation are still fresh in her memory.

The reconstruction corporation, which now goes to conference in Congress, has as it major purpose the thawing of credits already in existence rather than the creation of new ones and bankers say that such a process of anti-deflation does not mean active inflation. Foreign observers, it is suggested, have doubtless been watching the recent rise in security prices here and have attributed it to an inflationary move rather than to a turn in speculative and investment confidence.

Advices from Chicago indicate that the railroad wage conference may be prolonged for a few days, but a successful outcome is anticipated in Wall street.

Sterling exchange firmed again, cables opening three-quarters of a cent higher at $3.49¼.

Argentina-Uruguay Dispute Settled

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The diplomatic incident between Argentina and Uruguay arising from the activities of Argentine exiles in Uruguayan territory was virtually settled yesterday when the Uruguayan ambassador informed the foreign minister of precautionary measures taken by his government. President Uriburu expressed his satisfaction at the attitude of Uruguay.

McDonough Heads R.-C.A.-Victor Firm

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—J. R. McDonough, executive vice president, has been elected president of R. C. A.-Victor Company to succeed E. E. Shumaker, resigned.

Common shareholders of Radio Corporation of America on December 31, 1931, totaled 103,851 against 74,824 on June 30 and 11,976 in April, 1923.

Jobless Total Drops 112,000 in Britain

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(AP)—A "real improvement" in the unemployment situation in Great Britain was announced by the Ministry of Labor last night as reflected in 74 out of 101 industry groups analyzed.

During the first three weeks in December, the Ministry said, the total number of jobless decreased 112,000—from 2,622,000 to 2,510,000.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

STEEL REBOUND FROM HOLIDAY DIP SLOW

Recovery Fails to Bring Production on Par With Early December Levels

By B. E. V. LUTY

Steel ingot production this week has been at about 24 per cent, three weekly rises of two points each being thus recorded. The increase, however is from a special holiday dip and does not carry production back to the rate of early December. There is recovery from the holiday dip but not from the general seasonal year-end recession.

In active times there has always been a sharp increase beginning just at January 1, whereby January as a whole would run well above December. This represented replenishment of stocks and anticipation of spring requirements. In times like these no stocks are desired and nothing is anticipated, purchases being made only at the last moment as requirements arise. Thus the steel trade was expecting very little business so early in the year and is disappointed only mildly if at all.

AUTO DEMAND UP

Such increase as has occurred in steel demand and production has been chiefly in connection with the automobile trade, which had such very light steel requirements in the last quarter that it could step up its activities markedly and yet reach even a moderate producing rate according to old standards.

Other steel consuming lines make substantially the same showing as in December. The farm implement industry is running at the moderate rate it reached two or three months ago, with no definite schedules for the future. Fabricated structural steel inquiries and awards continue light, with many individual small jobs and no definite prospects as to when heavier tonnage will develop. Railroad buying, virtually absent for months, is not developing to any extent, but Northern Pacific has bought 150 hopper cars and the Erie is reported to be on the verge of buying rails.

1932 ESTIMATES MADE

The finished steel market shows a little additional weakness from time to time, slightly lower prices on sheets and strips coming to light in the past week. The situation is not reassuring when there had been a period of very notable stability for four months through October, while now on the majority of products prices then ruling have been dislodged, there being no definite prices now around which sellers might rally. With recent declines, however, sheets are not entirely down to their low of last June excepting automobile sheets, which are $4 a ton under the previous low. Recent prices on bars, shapes, plates and strips represent a new low on this movement, but nails are 15 cents a keg above the June level.

There are only loose conjectures as to what total steel production in 1932 may amount to. A favorite notion is that ingot output will fall between 16,000,000 tons, the rate in last quarter, and 25,000,000 tons, last year's total. Even this is narrowing the matter down for the December rate was under 16,000,000 tons a year while the March rate was 36,000,000 tons.

Modern Sanitation Method Installed in Apartments; Incinerator Sales Grow

The construction of apartment buildings and dwellings in Pittsburgh and vicinity within the past few months shows that architects, contractors and owners of residences are considering the disposal of rubbish one of the big factors in construction. The largest apartment under construction in Pittsburgh, the Royal York, now being completed at Bigelow boulevard and North Dithridge street, has had one of the largest incinerators in the city installed to handle rubbish disposal.

The incinerator was furnished by the Pittsburgh Incinerator Company and has a two-ton capacity. All the garbage and rubbish accumulated throughout the building and its large garage will be handled through this incinerator with the least trouble and the smallest fire hazard.

DEMAND GAINS

The owner and builder of the Royal York Apartments has also installed Pittsburgh incinerators in the recently completed King Edward Apartments. The Pittsburgh Incinerator Company has also furnished incinerators for recent installation in the Presbyterian Western Theological Seminary, North Side, and the Palace Credit Clothing Company, as well as furnishing numerous smaller types of incinerators for homes and commercial buildings.

PREDICTS NEW LAW

Harry E. Hollis, of the Pittsburgh Incinerator Company, believes that the incinerator will some day be compulsory by law. He said:

"We are waging a war on the dirty rubbish box and advocating sanitation for the home. I think it will be only a question of time until the health authorities recognize that the incinerator is a necessity."

RETAIL SALES RETARDED

With unusually high temperatures prevailing, the sale of heavy clothing and other seasonal lines has been much below normal in volume both at wholesale and retail. Clearance sales are not moving the surplus very rapidly, according to R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review.

Advance sales of spring merchandise are still very light, and some houses have not yet started their salesmen on the road. Movement of lumber and other building materials continue slow, construction work being much below normal and much difficulty is being reported in financing smaller building operations.

Operations of electrical manufacturers are at a slightly lower rate than a year ago with buying of heavier electrical equipment particularly slow.

Mining of bituminous coal is approximately 25 per cent lower than a year ago at this time and demand from industrial sources shows but little improvement, while that from domestic sources is greatly affected by the warm weather.

PLATE GLASS CALL BETTER

With the exception of a small increase in demand for plate glass, manufacturers of sheet glass report the situation to be unchanged. Orders placed with producers are few in number and small in quantity, according to National Glass Budget.

The southwestern part of the country appears to be experiencing more activety than elsewhere, but the price situation is said to be just as disturbing in that locality as anywhere else.

At present the increased automobile production schedules are the only features that are helping the plate glass situation or the other branches of the flat glass business.

Communication Firms Have Good Prospects

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE COMMUNICATION COMPANIES must be classed among the organizations which will have a substantial participation in the next revival of general business. The record of these corporations during the past two years has been unusually good from a profit standpoint. In spite of declines in their gross revenues, most of the communication companies have maintained a larger margin of profit than industrial organizations.

When business definitely turns the corner, the telephone and telegraph companies may be expected to resume the rate of growth which characterized their operations in the 10 years preceding 1930.

An almost unprecedented amount of technical progress was made by the communication industry in the past two years. New types of service were perfected. Large additions were made to physical properties. Facilities for world-wide communication were greatly extended. Timed wire service was instituted. This makes it possible for companies having extensive use for telegraph facilities to have direct connections with other organizations. For the first time telegraph charges can be based on the time needed for sending rather than the number of words. Messages are transmitted by electric telegraph printers. A subscriber can have his machine promptly connected with that of any other subscriber in the country. The time needed for sending a message and getting an answer is greatly reduced.

To Show in Future Profits

ALL THESE DEVELOPMENTS have not contributed to earnings under the unfavorable conditions in the past two years. But they undoubtedly will have an important influence on profits when business gets back to a more satisfactory level.

New types of service and the extension of the range of older types of service invariably result in additions to gross income and ultimately to increased earnings. When business improves the telephone and telegraph companies will cash in on these new types of revenue in addition to benefiting from a restoration of their revenues from older sources.

Earnings Well Maintained

THE RECORD OF THIS industry in the face of unfavorable conditions has been fairly good. American Telephone and Telegraph is expected to report net profit for 1931 ranging from $9 to $9.25 a share. This will cover dividend requirements of $9. In 1930 American Telephone earned $10.44 a share. No change in the dividend rate is expected.

Western Union in its preliminary report for 1931 showed earnings equivalent to $5.98 a share. This compared with earnings of $9.03 a share in 1930. The annual dividend rate was cut from $8 to $6 early this year.

International Telephone has not done as well as the other two organizations mentioned. The fact that many of the company's operations are new and have not been fully developed, has been one contributing factor. Losses on foreign exchange in the operations of units in other countries also reduced earnings. Unstable political conditions in foreign countries have affected the general opinion on the security of the organization's position in some localities. No estimate of earnings for the full year is available. In the first nine months of 1931 net profit was equivalent to $1.03 on the common stock as compared with $1.55 a share in the corresponding period of 1930. Dividends have been reduced twice. They were cut from a $2 annual basis to $1 in October and to 60 cents a share in December.

SCHOOL ADDS INSTRUCTOR

With a record enrollment on hand, Pittsburgh School of Accountancy has announced the opening date of its new spring classes in the evening division. At 8 p. m., January 20, these freshmen will embark upon their four-year study of business administration and accountancy as taught under the Pace course.

A group of expert instructors awaits the "tenderfoot." C. W. Salmond, president of the downtown institution, will lecture on accounting, while the practical classes in that course will be under the supervision of L. H. Baxter, member of the staff of Wood, Sebring & Co., certified public accountants. D. S. Thomas, member of the law firm of Campbell, Wick, Houck, Thomas & Nixon, will teach law.

PITTSBURGH SCHOOL OF ACCOUNTANCY

NOW IS THE TIME to register for 1932 day and evening classes in accountancy and business administration as follows.

Evening Class begins January 20 at 8 P. M.

Day Class begins February 15 at 9 A. M.

SCHOOL OPENS NEW CLASSES

Pittsburgh Academy is making arrangements for a large beginning class February 1 as a result of the applications received during the past two weeks. New classes in all subjects will be organized in both day and evening schools. In the day school the new students who have registered include principally January graduates of local high schools and colleges, who are preparing for positions as secretaries, stenographers and accountants. The increased enrollment in the evening school is due largely to the present economic situation.

With the exception of the special evening business courses, of which J. L. Zerbe is director, the new classes will begin February 1. Mr. Zerbe announces that the special evening courses will begin on February 17.

The first term classes, which begin October 1, will end February 10. The instructors of these special business courses are Dr. E. R. Moses, Joseph R. Schewe, Edwin H. Stuart, W. J. Aiken, Dr. Charles Schisano and J. L. Zerbe.

EUROPE'S IDLE REPORTED UP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Commercial dispatches from Europe to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States report that unemployment there is on the increase.

The dispatches list the idle at 8,654,481 in the four principal nations. Germany is the greatest sufferer in this respect, having a total of 5,057,000 or about 1,300,000 more than at this time last year.

Great Britain reported 2,627,324 idle early in December, an increase of 320,362 during the year. Italy reported an unemployed list of 878,000, while France, whose official statistics were said to be an "admittedly inaccurate index of the situation," reported a total of 92,157 which is the highest figur since 1914.

Household Finance Shows Gain in 1931

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—Preliminary figures reflecting results of 1931 operations of Household Finance Corporation show a slight increase in net profit over 1930, according to L. C. Harbison, president. For the year to December 31, 1930, the company reported net profit of $4,066,156.

Consolidated Lead To Cut Capital

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A special meeting of stockholders of Consolidated Lead and Zinc Company has been called for February 9 to vote on a proposed reduction of the company's capital stock to $1,000,000 from $2,537,000.

WEEKLY BANK CLEARINGS

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Bank clearings this week at all leading cities in the United States, as reported to Dun's Review, amount to $5,874,646,000 and are 26.3 per cent under those of a year ago. At New York City, the total was $4,046,863,000, a reduction of 25.3 per cent, while the aggregate for cities outside of New York of $1,827,783,000 was 28.4 per cent smaller.

Bank clearings this week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., showing decreases compared with same period a year ago, follow (totals in thousands):

Hoover Sends Wreath For Franklin's Grave

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—A wreath sent by President Hoover was among floral decorations placed on the grave of Benjamin Franklin at a ceremony which was one of the features of the day's observance of the two hundred and twenty-sixth anniversary of his birth. Although genial "Poor Richard" was born January 17, 1706, observance of the event was held yesterday because his natal day falls this year on Sunday.

The anniversary program was concluded last night with the annual banquet of the Poor Richard Club. More than a thousand advertising men and women from various parts of the country attended.

Withdrawal of Gold From U. S. Heavy

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Gold exports as reported by the New York Federal Reserve Bank for yesterday amounted to $12,260,000 to France, $4,091,000 to Belgium, $210,000 to Holland and $108,000 to Switzerland. Imports amounted to $111,400 from Mexico. Earmarked gold showed a decrease of $15,723,000.

The substantial withdrawals are believed to represent gold which had been previously earmarked and approximately offset the reduction in earmarked holdings.

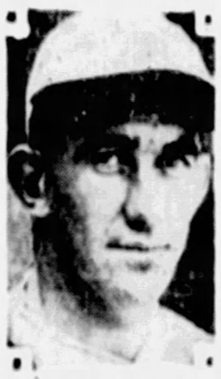
By JAMES J. LONG

Escaping Baseball Cuts. Ex-Pitcher's Birthday. Cage Game Makes Hit. Minnick on New Job. Loughran Clearly Done. Bronson on Collegians.

SEVERAL SAVED BY LONG CONTRACTS

WHILE THE SALARIES of other baseball players in the major leagues are being slashed right and left, and the victims are fuming and storming in protest against reductions that range from slight cuts to amputations amounting to as much as 40 per cent in the case of Bill Terry and 77 per cent in the case of Hack Wilson, a few pastimers are in a position to sit back and chuckle over their own escapes from a similar fate. They are the boys who signed long contracts a year ago.



Mickey Cochrane

At the time of the action, the wisdom of the course taken by those athletes was questioned by many of their playing mates. It was pointed out to them they were throwing away a chance to get further pay increases later. Even the club owners, perhaps, rubbed their hands gleefully over what they considered bargains well driven and neat bits of business acumen. Nobody pictured the depression extending into 1932 nor expected that before another year the magnates would be lopping huge chunks off the wages of the pastimers.

BUT IT DEVELOPS that the long-term players had greater foresight than the club owners. There are some others like Chuck Klein, slugging outfielder of the Phillies, who, having signed a three-year contract for $40,000, was well paid last year and will be equally well paid for the next two seasons, assured of the same figure he drew in 1931, whereas otherwise he probably would have received a cut.

Among the others who are also sitting pretty and are as secure as Klein for the immediate future may be mentioned, three members of the Athletics. They are Catcher Mickey Cochrane, Outfielder Al Simmons and First Baseman Jimmy Foxx. Like Klein, each member of the trio signed a three-year contract last spring, so that they're sure of the same money for 1932 and 1933, no matter what happens.

BASEBALL PALS OF years ago were among the many to send birthday congratulations to G. Bruce Gordon, City Registrar of Deeds, who yesterday celebrated his sixty-second anniversary.

In Pittsburgh's earlier diamond days, Bruce Gordon was one of the star right-hand pitchers of this region. He pitched for some of the strongest clubs in the district and made a brilliant record that won for him a ranking among the best hurlers of his time.

GORDON WAS ASSOCIATED with Ed Morris and Frank Killen, two of the greatest left-handers in the country, and the comradeship of their baseball days is as warm now as ever, the three being often together and exchanging visits regularly. Bruce has never lost his love for baseball, and is a loyal Pirate fan. He is also an enthusiastic dog fancier. The former pitcher, an employe of the city for 18 years, is a member of one of Pittsburgh's pioneer families. He resides with his sister, Mrs. Elmer Parker, at 3928 Riddle street, North Side.

Alvin Crowder

ONE BIG LEAGUER to accept a wage cut for 1932 without protest, in spite of having made a strong finish last year, is Pitcher Alvin Crowder, of the Washington club, tried by the Pirates on a training trip six years ago. His signed contract has been received by President Clark Griffith, along with that of Pitcher Monte Weaver.

Crowder was slow getting under way in 1931, lost four straight games right off the bat, and didn't hang up a victory until May 24. But toward the close of the race he won nine in a row, and wound up with 18 wins against 11 defeats. He took a slight reduction without complaint, and wrote Griffith that he is doing a lot of winter training and will be ready to step out at top speed when the season opens.

THE WASHINGTON CLUB has five men in line in Crowder, Weaver, Joe Kuhel, Oscar Bluege and Dave Harris. "Everything is rosy now," comments Griffith, "but very likely the kicks will be coming in next week."

Two players obtained by the Senators from Youngstown, O., in the Middle Atlantic League, have been released back to that club. They are Dave Banks and Tom Clark, both outfielders. No strings are attached.

JOHNNY FREUND reports the recent basketball series between the Rosenblum Celtics and the Renaissance five as the best he has seen in years. "Those Renaissance boys are coming to the front rapidly," he says, "and don't have to take back seats for any other team in the land. "The Cleveland games were played in the new cage in the Auditorium. Cleveland fans who until last season had never seen a game in a cage are now 100 per cent for cage basketball, the attitude of all other persons who have followed the sport in the big time. I saw more action in that first Cleveland game than I have seen in any two other contests in many a year. Chick Davies took his Duquesne University players to Youngstown to see the third event of the series, and they got a lot of real enjoyment as well as knowledge of the sport out of the exhibition given by the two big pro teams. Bill Campbell, of Homestead High, and Bob Thorne, of Grove City, also were interested spectators."

APPARENTLY THERE IS no longer any room for doubt that Tommy Loughran is done. The loss of a decision to King Levinsky was not convincing. It might have been due merely to staleness and a temporary slowing down. But since this was followed up last night by a two-round knockout, only the second of his career, at the hands of Steve Hamas, whom he would have outclassed by a mile at his best, it's pretty clear that Loughran, at 29, is at the end of the trail.

The game suffers a loss in the going of Loughran, always a credit to it and an influence for the good. But it gains a deserving new topliner in the rise of Hamas, who has many well-wishers throughout this section by reason of his former Penn State connections. Loughran's retrogression may take something away from the credit Hamas will receive for his victory, but it must be remembered that Steve did a better job against Loughran than did Levinsky, and the latter was good enough to win a decision over the tough Paulino Uzcudun in 10 rounds at Chicago last night.

ED MINNICK, formerly coach and promoter of the Duquesne Lafayettes, West Penn basketball champions, who withdrew from the active ranks this season, is to leave the district in which he has so long been one of the floor sport's most prominent and popular figures.

Jimmy Bronson

Minnick has been appointed from a large field to an important position by the National Slovak Society. He has been made traveling athletic director and will cover the entire United States and Canada in the performance of his duties. He is to leave for Canada next week to start on his first tour.

JIMMY BRONSON, former manager of Jack and Pete Zivic and other fighters, does not share the view of Lou Brown, once his partner in the ownership of a Queensberry stable, that college football players are without a good chance to reach the top in boxing. "The prime requisites of a football player are speed, stamina, power, courage, agility, ability to think fast in an emergency and co-ordination of brain and muscle," Bronson says. "Boxing calls for exactly the same qualities. Furthermore, the college gridder has a fine background of physical training, often through high school from the age of 12 or 13, under good coaches and intelligent trainers. His courage has been tested and he is perfect ring material. Al Lassman, had he lived, would have been a truly great heavyweight."

TECH ANNEXES SEVENTH WIN IN ROW

Biggy Artz, celebrated citizen of the North Side, and formerly a famous minor league baseball umpire, was working a game in which Jewel Ens, recently deposed manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was taking part. Jewel came sliding into second base. Biggy waved him to the bench with the following crack:

"It was a good slide, Jewel, but y'er out!"

New York University's varsity basketball team made a good slide last night in an effort to slip off with the decision over Carnegie Tech, but failed when the Tartans unleashed a whale of a second period attack. Carnegie won the ball game, 30 to 25, after trailing at the half, 14 to 11.

It was Tech's seventh win in a row.

VIOLETS IN EARLY LEAD

The Violets, coached by Howard Cann, rushed off to a substantial lead and managed to stick in the van for the first 20 minutes of play. Their attack was featured by snappy goal-getting by a diminutive blonde forward, Linz, and Anderson, a guard. Linz accounted for three buckets and Anderson two. Potter, the other guard, dropped in a long one and two fouls accounted for the other points.

The Skibos were getting the shots, but they weren't hitting. They took 24 from the floor and bagged only three, a not-such-a-hot average. On the other hand, the Violets dropped in six out of 11.

After the intermission, however, the home boys found the range and literally rained baskets. They pulled up even in almost the time it take to write it, and then, with Bob Smith leading the attack, forged into the lead and held it throughout, despite two brave rallies by the Violets. Smith bagged six goals from the floor for his evening's work. Linz, of N. Y. U., dumped five.

MANY FOULS CALLED

Carnegie, minus the services of Lou Jagnow, star forward, who is injured, shifted Capt. Jim Leonard to a forward and used Raudabaugh at the guard. Later, Red (Three Point) Silverman and Freedel entered the game.

Twenty fouls were called on N. Y. U., just half as many as were charged against the Tartans. The Violets were detected by the officials, Lee Mackey and Nate Lippe, doing a lot of pushing and EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE TOWN CLOCK OF JILEMNICE—The reason for the curious striking arrangement of the old town clock at Jilemnice (Starkenburg), Czechoslovakia, was to enable the inhabitants to tell the exact time at intervals between the hours at night. This system was quite customary with Central European town clocks of an older age. Quarter past 12 was announced by a stroke of one, followed by 12 strokes. At half-past 12 the booming voice of the clock was heard twice, followed by 12 strokes, indicating the hour. An initial stroke of three followed by 12 indicated the hour to be 12:45. At the hour of 1, the gong struck 4 to indicate the passage of four quarters (after 12), following with a single stroke indicative of the hour. In all the voice of the gong was heard 510 times within 12 hours.

REGULAR TEAM TO BE USED TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER

Dr. Red Carlson's tired and worn Pitt varsity basketball team, with a single exception, likely will return to the court toil tonight as the Panthers stack up against their sixteenth opponent of the season. The Panthers meet the strong New York University Violets in the Stadium Pavilion tonight, the same Violets who gave Carnegie such a ball game last evening.

Despite the fact that he issued a call for aid from the football squad Thursday and has been working with numerous grid stars since, Paul Reiser, Eddie Hirshberg, Rip Collins, Jim Clark, Howard O'Dell, big Jim MacMurdo and others, the physician-coach hasn't had the time to get these lads in trim, and plans to start his regulars, all except lanky Russ Ochsenhirt, the big center, who has seen service in all except 12 minutes of the games played to date.

RUSS MAY NOT PLAY

Russ has a bum foot, which was injured in the Duquesne game, and Carlson plans to keep him on the shelf for the start of the game at least. In his stead, he'll use either Don Smith, Carl Forsberg or MacMurdo. Forsberg appears the most likely selection.

N. Y. U. was decidedly impressive as it battled the Skibos last night. Carlson and some of his men scouted the game and came away with a wholesome respect for the New Yorkers. Pitt hasn't won a game since it came back from the coast, which makes it tough for the Violets, for Pitt teams are not in the habit of dropping three in a row. Even in dull years.

TO USE BIG BOYS

At any rate, tonight's contest will be well worth attending, if only for a look at the big fellows in action. Carlson is certain to shoot 'em into the action at some time or other. If the team is ahead, he'll put them in for the experience, and if it is behind, he'll use them to save the tired and battered regulars.

In the preliminary, the Pitt freshmen will engage Kiski. The probable lineup:

Pitt.		N. Y. U.
Lewis	F	Linz
W. Kowalzer	F	Hearns
Forsberg	C	Lefft
Smith	G	Anderson
Hughes	G	Potter

While the Panthers and Violets are battling here, Carnegie's Tartans will stack up against a tough one in Grove City's Crimson passers on the Grovers' floor. Coach Hogan and his players departed by bus shortly after noon for the Mercer County town. If Tech can grab off this one, it will be eight in a row.

HENRY UNDECIDED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 16.—Head Coach Henry was uncertain about his W. & J. lineup for the basketball game here tonight with Geneva College. Lieber and Capt. Joy, he said, probably would start at forward, with Headley at center. But there was no certainty about the two selections for guard positions. Shaffer and Furjanic, apparently, have been doing the best work in practice this week, but Henry may start some other men.

HAMAS STOPS LOUGHRAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Tommy Loughran, a pale shadow of the onetime "old master" of the light-heavyweights, reached the end of the fistic trail last night, a knockout victim of the Steve Hamas, a 23-year-old fighter, not long out of Penn State College.

With a swift, furious charge that broke through Loughran's defense as if it was papier-mache, the youthful Hamas battered the veteran twice to the floor, and won on a technical knockout in the second round of what was to have been a 10-round final bout at Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of 9,000 roaring fans saw Loughran meet his finish at the hands of a boy to whom he would have given a boxing lesson in his prime. The Philadelphian didn't have a thing left except courage in his attempt to repel the onslaught of the lad who made a name for himself as an all-round athletic star in college ranks. Loughran weighed 185¾, and Hamas 183½.

PAULINO BEATEN

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—King Levinsky, Chicago's heavyweight threat, continued his victorious march last night by scoring a surprising 10-round victory over the rugged Basque woodchopper, Paulino Uzcudun, in the Chicago Stadium.

Levinsky was awarded the verdict on a two-to-one basis, because he outfinished the Spaniard. Referee Little Phil Collins voted in favor of Levinsky, 52 to 48, while one of the judges did likewise. The other judge, however, voted in favor of a draw.

There were no knockdowns but that wasn't Levinsky's fault. He tried for 30 exciting minutes to find Uzcudun's chin for a finishing blast, but Uzcudun carried his chin tucked snugly on his chest.

BALL FAVORS CUTS

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Drastic salary reductions for major league baseball players this season are favored by Phil Ball, president and owner of the St. Louis Browns.

SPORT VIGNETTES

When WCAE, the Voice of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, interviewed Chick Davies, coach of the Duquesne University basketball squad, last night upon his team's victory in its first test against Pitt, it marked the inauguration of a series of such talks which will bring outstanding men in the world of sports before the microphone for the fans of the district . . . The Dukes' victory, incidentally, was a triumph of the professional type of basketball over the college brand . . . Chick learned the rudiments as a player for independent teams, while Dr. H. C. Carlson, the Pitt coach, is a former Panther star . . . The determining factor appears to have been the Dukes' policy of heading goalward the moment they gained possession of the ball, instead of jockeying about for position . . . Meanwhile their fine defense against the Pitt attack was the marvel of the onlookers.

Al Wittmer, former Allegheny High School star, who failed to deliver as football coach at Princeton during the past season and resigned a long-term contract, is making up for this shortcoming as coach of the Tiger basketball team, which has just won its eighth straight games and looms as one of the best fives in the East . . . Honus Wagner, old Pirate star, will be one of the "Trained Seals" on the Sports Quiz program of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph over WCAE next Wednesday night.

Eddie Kapphan, Pittsburgh's newest boxing promoter, in addition to being a former boxer and more recently a business man and real estate developer, once raced billy goats and also competed in bicycle races at Schenley Oval, and also participated in the promotion of these events . . . College boxing is a distinct novelty in these parts, but Yale has had Mosey King as mitt coach for the last 25 years . . . If Max Schmeling really wants to draw down a good purse for a fight he can get it by boxing Jack Sharkey again . . . The failure of the scheme to promote a Schmeling-Mickey Walker fight in Miami may be traced to the fact that the public no longer will go for hand-picked matches, as the Madison Square Garden interests discovered when their Schmeling-Young Stribling bout in Cleveland last summer flopped financially.

College athletes frequently have as peculiar habits and predilections as their professional brethren. . . .Royal Wertz, gamecock of the Carnegie Tech boxing team, who fights in the 115-pound class, for instance, lives in Amarillo, Tex., but won't wear a hat that doesn't come from Denver, Col. He has made several special trips to Denver to purchase hats. . . .None of the coaches of athletic teams at Carnegie Tech is more popular than Ernie Sesto, who handles the boxing team. Sesto alone has been responsible for popularizing the sport at the school, and it is his personality that draws out large squads and keeps the boys coming to practice. His handling of men is said to be masterful. . . Bobby Smith and Lou Jagnow, who are engaged in a close race for high scoring honors on the Carnegie Tech basketball team, are fraternity brothers. They are Kappa Sigmas, which fraternity also boasted such stars as Al Irwin, Howard Harpster, Jimmy Robertson and other names famous in Tech's athletic history.—HARRY KECK.

REIS SIGNED

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Bob Reis, a Brooklyn recruit, was the first member of the team to return his signed contract, Dave Driscoll, secretary of the club has announced. Reis, an infielder who came to the Brooklyn club last September from the Hartford team, delivered his contract by hand.

STAR UNDER KNIFE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Russell (Runt) Calloway, of Huntington, holder or co-holder of all indoor hurdle records in the tri-state district, will be operated on Monday for removal of a bone chip in an ankle.

GRID ELEVENS GET TROPHIES

The annual championship award luncheon, tendered by the Chamber of Commerce to the city college and high school football champions was scheduled to be held at noon today in the dining room of the Chamber of Commerce building.

Pitt, victors over Tech and acknowledged city college champion, will receive a huge silver loving cup from the city as well as the C. of C. trophy. South Hills High School, City League champion, will be awarded the Chamber's award.

Judge John Egan, of the Court of Common Pleas, well known football official, will make the principal address. Edward T. Whiter, chairman of the C. of C. recreation committee, will preside. The city's award will be made by John S. Herron, president of city council, on behalf of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

Besides the members of the two championship teams, the guests of honor will include: Chancellor John G. Bowman, Secretary Samuel B. Linhart and Coach Dr. John B. Sutherland, of Pitt; President Thomas S. Baker and Clarence Overend, graduate manager of athletics, Carnegie Tech; the Rev. J. J. Callahan, president, Duquesne University; Marcus Aaron, president of the Board of Public Education; Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of public schools, and H. E. Winner, principal of South Hills school.

Aultman Leads Conference Scorers

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 16.—A survey conducted here among the Tri-State Conference basketball teams reveals that Cliff Aultman, of Geneva, is the leader at the present time in the individual scoring for conference cagers in non-conference games. Aultman has seen service for the Golden Tornado in 11 games and has scored 37 field goals and 19 fouls for a total of 93 points.

TECH BOXERS MEET W. VA.

Carnegie Tech's varsity boxing team and the glove-slingers of West Virginia University inaugurate the intercollegiate ring campaign in Pittsburgh tonight with a dual engagement in the Carnegie Tech gymnasium.

Due to the change in the rules, there will not be a heavyweight bout on the card, which necessitates Tech forfeiting in the 165-pound class. Coach Ernie Sesto has not prepared a 165-pound fighter. He might use Jeff Burke, but prefers to have Burke battle the Mountaineer star, Latham, at 155 pounds.

Jacques Croissant, the Carnegie footballer, who battles as a heavyweight, is ready for action, and if the Mountaineers fetch along a big fellow, the two may stage an exhibition bout. The schedule of bouts follows:

115-pound—Morrison, W. Va., vs. Wertz, Tech.
125-pound—Atlas, Tech, vs. Fisher, W. Va.
135-pound—Nuzo, W. Va., vs. Holzberg, Tech.
145-pound—Carr, Tech, vs. Hamilton, W. Va.
155-pound—Latham, W. Va., vs. Burke, Tech.
175-pound—Hawkins, W. Va., vs. Waldron, Tech.

DEMAS-ROMETO ELECTED

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 16.—George Demas, of Pittsburgh, and Albert Rometo, of Glassmere, Pa., both football stars, have been appointed co-captains of W. & J.'s first intercollegiate wrestling team. The two captains will alternate as captain in the four matches on the Presidents' schedule. Demas competes in the heavyweight division and Rometo in the 145-pound class.

It Is Not Wise to Run Away From Malicious Gossip

Gossip! Sly, slinking whispers! Hints! Lies! Trailing their slime over Angela's days, turning her joyous, generous young life into a nightmare of dread.

If you were Angela, what would you do about them?

Would you run away? Would you fight? Or would you ignore them and their poison?

"Dear Sally:

"I am in terrible trouble, and I thought maybe you could help me and tell me what to do.

"I have always been very popular and have had lots of friends. Having them made me very happy, and I always tried to be a good friend to them. I have always tried to do what was right, too.

TALKED ABOUT HER

"Well, it all started—my trouble, I mean—when a new family moved into our neighborhood. The son of this family was a very nice appearing young man, and all the girls in our crowd were sort of rivals for his attention. You know how that is, when a new young fellow comes into the neighborhood. The girls don't admit it, but they do feel sort of peeved when one of them seems to be winning out with him. That is, some of them do.

"There was a girl in the crowd—one of the boys usually do fall for—who decided that she was going to annex this chap; but he had other ideas, I guess. Anyway, he took me to the country club, and to a couple of other places, and I noticed that this girl was pretty cool to me.

"And then people began to treat me funny, to stop talking suddenly when I came up to them and to edge off as soon as they could. Several of the older people were very cool to me, and then I found that a lot of ugly stories were going around about me.

CONSIDERS GOING AWAY

"Now I don't know that this girl started them, but I don't know who else could have. They were just plain lies, all of them. But people don't know that, and they're making my life simply a nightmare.

"Oh, I don't know what to do! I am only 23, and I've never had any experience with things like this before. Sometimes I think I'll just pack up my things and disappear—go some place where folks don't know about this. I'd like to tell that girl a few things! I just know she is responsible, but I can't prove it.

"Please help me! What shall I do? "ANGELA"

That's an ugly spot you're in, youngster, and I don't blame you for feeling hurt and frantic, but, after all, it's just part of life. All of your days you'll be meeting envious, vicious people who will try to harm you. All of your days you'll have to fight lies. So the sooner you learn how to handle such things, the better for you. And here's one general rule for all such cases:

Never run away! See it through!

TRAIL DOWN AFFRONTS

That doesn't mean that you should go out and have a big brawl; for that is exactly what she is trying to make you do. She hopes to demoralize you by getting your goat, and a bad temper is the best demoralizer there is. So don't lose your head. Use it, instead.

Go quietly to some of these people who are cutting you, and ask why they are. Call their bluff! It won't be hard. They'll back down as soon as you face them quietly but firmly. Don't dramatize yourself by imagining slights and sneers which do not exist, but trail down every real affront—and there'll very soon be no affronts to trail.

People respect a person who respects himself.

But remember—handle this as you'd handle any other unpleasant duty, with the outside of your mind. Don't let it get under you skin. Don't let it spoil the days for you.

For that is exactly what this malicious girl wants to do. Hate is always your enemy's best revenge. It's the worst thing your enemy can do to you.

"KNOW THYSELF" -:- -:- Drawn by Nell Brinkley

Can we? That's a question. And if we could—really—would it be good for us and our happiness? There's another question. Most of us feel that we know that person who looks back at us from the silvery, mysterious mirror. I think I see that I am blonde—that my face is wider than I like—that my eyes are green instead of the coffee-brown that I should have had from my mother—and that would have—might have—made me a real "knock-out." But this is only my physical appearance; and even, alas, with that I may be completely wrong and in the dark. As to my soul—the fugitive shape that I try to see but just for one revealing moment look back at me from the tiny window in my eye—that person that is really I, I despair of ever knowing!

To be a stranger always to oneself! The most honest, the most self-hunting person is likely always to be in that ludicrous, tragic, relationship with himself. We go along for years, puzzling our husband-and-wife, our child—and our parent, completely. They are cocky over "seeing through" us, at the very moment when we may be the grandest mystery. We go along mystifying them—but pretty much understanding ourselves, dealing hardly with our faults, patting ourselves on the back for our virtues. And quite suddenly we are NOT SO SURE. There is the stranger looking back at us. Whether we are good or bad, selfish or generous, candid or jealous, great or small, we honestly are up against a regular Chinese wall to say! "Then," think we, "it is the thing I am to the other fellow, a portrait that I am fated never to see, that is the real I. 'Oh wad some power the giftie gie me, to see myself as ithers see me!'"

But that is not you either. You, woman or man, are a thousand women and men in one, a seemingly clear crystal made up of a confusion of facets. And as the crystal turns, and image after image flashes into the view of the person who is your familiar, he puts his hand to his head—and does not know the real you either. He gives you up. As you have given yourself up. Who knows us? God perhaps. The mystery that is behind the orange, luscious, fragrant, growing out of the horrific-smelling fertilizer from the abattoir. Behind the miracle of the humming-bird's egg—the wind in the pine tree—and the look of the father in the child's eyes, and the talent of his mother in his hand.

Robert Hichens, in an early romance, has an Arab boy play upon his flute in a desert garden—"NO ONE BUT GOD AND I KNOW WHAT IS IN MY HEART."

Perhaps it should have been just "GOD."

What's the last word? The same old one that mothers say, "do the best you can—and everything will be all right!"

NELL BRINKLEY.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Formal Wedding Attire

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Is a 5 o'clock afternoon wedding strictly formal? If not, what time of the day is a wedding considered strictly formal?

2. I would also like to know what kind of suits the men should wear at a 5 o'clock wedding?

C. T.

1. A formal wedding may be at any time of day or evening, say from 12 noon to 9 o'clock. The formal morning wedding is usually the High Noon one; the formal afternoon wedding at any time between 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock (usually the hour is 4 o'clock), and the formal evening wedding is usually at 8 or half after 8 o'clock.

It is not the hour that determines the formality of the wedding . . . that is determined by the attire of the bride. If she wears the traditional bridal dress and veil for the morning, afternoon or evening wedding, then the wedding is stamped as "formal."

2. If the wedding is to be formal, the men of the wedding party and the men guests should correctly wear formal day clothes (cutaway coat and dark striped trousers). If the wedding is informal, the men wear business suits.

Church Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the courtesy required when invited to a very formal church wedding when you cannot attend and when you are not acquainted with the bride or her parents, but are a good friend of long standing of the groom's parents? Is a reply expected?

2. Is a gift expected?

SUBSCRIBER.

1. A wedding invitation to the church only does not require an answer. Of course, if the invitation is to the reception or to the wedding breakfast, or luncheon or supper, it must be answered in the formal, third person manner. The difference is that in one case the hosts do not necessarily have to know how many guests to provide for, and in the case of the reception or breakfast, places must be arranged for.

2. Not necessarily. A wedding gift is sent only when one wishes to send one.

Contract Bridge -:- OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

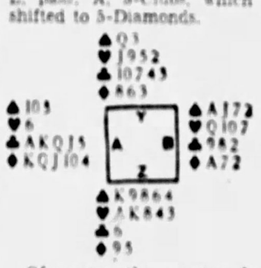
Handling Trumps

Sometimes a very bright remark is repeated so often as to take on the aspect of a general rule. The chap who originated the story of the player walking the streets of London because he failed to pull trumps could not have anticipated that he would be quoted all over the world. Doubtless the story has caused the dilatory to more quickly lead trumps. Perhaps, also, the story causes trumps to be led before they should be touched.

About the first thing taught a player is to pull trumps at once. Later on that player frequently may be asked: "What was the rush to pull trumps?" Probably the best evidence of a player's ability is the way he handles the trumps as declarer. There are only two situations where they should be pulled immediately. There are three important situations where trumps must not be led at once.

Trumps must be pulled at once, to prevent adverse ruffs of an established suit held by the declarer. They must be pulled immediately to prevent adverse ruffs of an established suit held by dummy, affording the declarer an opportunity to discard his losers upon the established suit. The first hand shown illustrates the first of the two situations obligating pulling trumps.

Contracting went as follows: Z, 1-Spade; A, 3-Diamonds (a strong invitation for partner to a hand worth an opening bid of two); Y, pass; B, 4-Diamonds; Z, pass; A, 5-Clubs, which B shifted to 5-Diamonds.



Of course, the opening lead was the Q of spades. The trick was won by dummy's A, and trumps were at once led, to protect the declarer's established clubs. A took his 11 visible tricks, surrendering one spade and one heart at the end.

The hand below shows the second situation where trumps must be pulled at once, before an adversary has an opportunity to ruff dummy's established suit.

Z's 1-Diamond was overcalled by A's 2-Spades, and Z carried Y's 3-Hearts to game. Five-odd were made at once by pulling trumps, Y discarding his three losing clubs on Z's good diamonds.

Katherine Orders Madge to Bed

Never can I be grateful enough to Lillian for her quickness of thought and speech when Katherine anxiously asked me: "Did you get enough of the act done so that you could finish it?"

Worn out physically and mentally by the most strenuous piece of work I ever had done, the dictation of the entire third act of my play in about seven hours' time, I was already in a condition bordering on hysteria when Katherine summoned me to my baby's bedside. The realization that my two months' old daughter had been ill all night and that Katherine had only sent for me when she went into a convulsion had driven me well nigh frantic with jealous anger. It seemed a monstrous thing that, even though she had done the best thing for me, I should have been kept from my baby's bedside, because of any work, no matter how important. Katherine's query set me aflame and I felt myself actually choking with the angry words which rushed to my lips.

But Lillian had been carefully watching me on the alert for an explosion. I knew that when she adroitly moved in front of me, screening my face from Katherine's eyes and said jubilantly: "I'll say we got enough done. We've finished the darn thing. I'll have you know—wrote the last work just before Katie came dashing in after us, and I'll risk my critical reputation on its being the niftiest third act climax that will have been seen on Broadway in many a day."

I could not see Katherine's face, but her voice was filled with wholehearted jubilant thanksgiving.

"Oh how wonderful! I was so afraid that calling you would spoil the thing completely."

"So you almost let my baby die without me," the words were so close to my lips that for a panic-stricken moment I thought I had spoken them.

The realization of how closely I had come to rewarding Katherine's devotion in so mean and so dastardly a manner, was like a dash of cold water upon the flame of my anger. Suddenly my knees gave beneath me and if I had not caught at Lillian with frantically clutching hands, I should have crashed to the floor. She had her arms around me and had put me in a chair before almost any other woman would have realized my condition. Katherine moved solicitously toward me but I put up my hand in protest.

"Don't leave my baby for a single second," I whispered.

She shot a keen look at me, then stepped back to the bed and put her hand protectingly upon the coverlet over the sleeping child.

"I shall be right here," she said, "but I need your help. Can you give it to me?"

My exhaustion forgotten, I sprang to my feet, shaking off Lillian's restraining hands.

"Of course, I can," I said. "Tell me what you want me to do."

She hesitated. "Sure you won't be angry?"

"I am sure," I said, thinking that she meant me to take Katie's place in helping her.

"If you will let Lillian put you to bed for several hours," she said, "that will be the best help you can give me."

My face suddenly felt as if a fire had been kindled behind it and I guess that it looked as it felt. To be sent to bed like a child or an invalid, while another woman cared for my sick baby. Surely this was too much for heart and nerves to endure without emphatic protest.

But, before I could speak, Lillian interposed swiftly. "You mean, of course, Katherine," she said smoothly, "after the doctor comes. You know as well as I that we never could get Madge to bed before she hears his verdict."

"Nor afterward," I burst out passionately. "Why should I go to bed as long as Faith needs extra care? You and Katherine have been up all night, the same as I have. I decline to play the part of a shirk."

Katherine turned swiftly from the bed, put her hands upon her hips and looked steadily at me.

"Let me answer her, please," Katherine said to Lillian. Then she turned to me and there was a hint of steel in her eyes which emphasized every word she uttered.

"You have seen fit, Madge, to trust the care of your children to me," she said. "I am speaking now from a strictly professional standpoint. I am responsible for this baby until you bring in another nurse or take over the entire care of her yourself. You are in no state, physically or mentally, to care for anyone. Lillian and I are both in perfect health, and we have had no such strain as has been yours. I cannot risk having you on my hands, too, as you certainly will be if you persist in taxing your already depleted strength any farther. I am sorry to be brutal, Madge, but I have got to take care of this baby, and if you don't consent to go to bed, I can't."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Nervousness Not a Disease But a Symptom and Curable

I receive many letters requesting advice about nervousness. "I am nervous. What shall I do about my nerves?" is the appeal in most of these letters.

Dr. Copeland

Nervousness is difficult to describe. It is really not a symptom or sign of weakness in the nervous system, which may be caused by a variety of things.

Nervousness is one result of our modern method of living, from which primitive man never suffered. He led a simple life. His greatest problem was obtaining sufficient food. When this was accomplished, he rested from his work.

Today the problem of food is entirely different. We eat too much, too little, too quickly, or not at all when we should. The nervous system is influenced by the food we take, by the digestion, by work, sleep and recreation.

Men and women suffer from nervous conditions, but it is more common in women. The victim of nervousness seldom feels rested. He wakens in the morning tired and exhausted. As the day advances he may pick up more strength.

Various complaints such as lumbago, headache, or vague pains of one sort or another are found in nervousness. The heart is rapid in action and there may be palpitation. Running, jumping or other muscular effort causes excessive fatigue. Usually there are marked digestive disturbances, with sour taste in the mouth, belching, heartburn and constipation.

Victims of nervousness complain of feeling depressed. They are easily irritated and find little joy in living. They have their "up and downs." At times the appetite is poor, and then again it is extremely good. They may have difficulty in sleeping for days at a time, and then sleep unusually well. Sometimes they are happy; at other times gloomy.

The afflicted person is greatly influenced by his imagination. He often believes he is the victim of some dreadful disease. This belief can be removed only by the careful examination and the urgent advice of a physician.

Rest is important for the cure of nervousness. If possible an afternoon nap should be taken every day. Even if sleep is not possible, rest is beneficial. Exercise is important, but should never be strenuous. The best form of exercise is walking.

The diet should contain abundant fresh vegetables and fruits, cereals, cream, butter and eggs. At least one pint of milk should be taken every day. Fried and greasy foods, as well as spiced foods and condiments, should be avoided. Alcohol is harmful.

In many cases a warm bath taken just before bedtime is beneficial. Massages as well as certain forms of electrical treatments are often valuable. If constipation exists it must be corrected. This can be done only by the establishment of a regular habit. When necessary, an enema should be taken.

A person suffering from nervousness should not become alarmed. He must be given the comforting news that he has a condition which can be cured. The co-operation of the afflicted one is imperative in the speedy cure of this condition.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Eyes in normal condition require little attention; they have their own washing-and-oiling system. When they feel tired, bathe with hot water, then with cold. Rest them now and then by changing from short vision to long gazing out the window. Before dressing for the heavy date with the best feller, place over the eyes a washcloth which has been wrung out of ice cold water.

Green is a color that most women should fight shy of. It is not flattering, except possibly to the red-head, and there are certain shades that are no help even to her. It is likely to throw a yellow cast upon the complexion. Purple may be royal, but it is no beauty bargain. Blondes seem to take it now and then, but it does not carry them any closer to the goal of pulchritude. As for orange, that should be stricken from the list.

No woman who doesn't carry herself beautifully is entitled to a seat on the beauty wagon. Posture is important, not only as an element of good appearance but as an aid to health. Slumping forward at the shoulders crowds the heart, and the lungs are compressed. The result is that that the blood is not properly aerated. Whereupon the complexion loses color, goes gray or yellow or takes on a pallor that makes the dearest friend exclaim, "Darling, you're looking terrible!" A state of affairs which doesn't make life seem particularly zippy or exuberant.

A hair shaft can be likened to a glass vial, the contents of which provide the coloring effect. When the color pigment disappears, the hair is white. Nobody knows where the tint-stuff goes, or why! It just evaporates. It is doubtful if this change has any bad effect upon the health of the growth. Though when the first silvered threads appear, it's a wise plan to start on a campaign of scalp hygiene. May stop the silvering.

Household Hints

Floors should be waxed with the grain of the wood.

A little lemon juice added to the water when making pastry will make the pastry lighter and remove all taste of fat or lard.

If you want to flavor a dish with onion, you can add the taste at the last minute by cutting an onion in half and squeezing it over a lemon squeezer. The juice thus extracted gives the necessary flavor and the eyes are not affected.

Many housewives clean out both top and bottom of the refrigerator once a week, but neglect the drain pipe. This is most important, as it really gets more clogged and dirty than any other section of the ice box. Don't neglect it; it is unhealthy to forget it. That drain pipe is one of the strong arguments for electric refrigeration to those of us using electricity for refrigeration purposes.

COLDS

RUB Musterole well into your chest and throat—almost instantly you feel easier. Repeat the Musterole rub once an hour for five hours . . . what a glorious relief!

Those good old-fashioned mild mustard plasters—and poultices, mercifully compliant—are mixed with other valuable ingredients in Musterole to make it what doctors call a "counter-irritant" because it gets action and is not just a salve.

It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out congestion and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, vegetable tablets are taken for bad breath. It's all you know.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 16 years of practice among patients afflicted with biliousness and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound. You will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

Darrell V. Martin

WAGNER UNWITTINGLY gave the world the first great composition exclusively for broadcasting purposes when he wrote "Das Rheingold" which is staged in darkness and is therefore an ideal presentation for the radio audience. . . . For the Philco Symphony Concert on WJAS at 8:15 tonight Leopold Stokowski has aptly chosen for his first number "The Song of the Three Rhine Daughters" from "Das Rheingold" . . . Wagner's amazing handling of the orchestral brasses and percussions is fittingly demonstrated in the stirring and exciting "Song of the Valkyries" from "Die Walkure," the second number of the evening. . . . Other parts of this ambitious presentation include a bit from "Siegfried"—that of Siegfried mounting the rock to Brunnhilde—with Paul Althouse, tenor; love music from Act 2 of "Tristan und Isolde" and a continuation of selections from "Gotterdammerung" . . . Nine vocalists will supplement the regular Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and Mr. Stokowski will give a brief explanation of the numbers before they are played.

We'll Ask Some

Reversing our usual procedure, we shall ask the questions today. You will find the answers at the bottom of the column. A gold star on this month's report card if you answer five.

1. When a network program is forced off the air by an SOS who pays the cost?

2. What famous theatrical man is now program director of the National Broadcasting Company?

3. What radio announcer has been barred from Harvard Stadium football games next season? Why?

4. What crooner has changed his style of singing to win back a popularity that seems to be fleeting?

5. What borough near Pittsburgh leads the state in radios per capita?

6. What two radio crooners, now famous rivals, once worked in the same orchestra?

7. What is the license fee paid annually by American broadcasting stations?

Studio Lights

"The Old Maestro" at the 12:15 a. m. standby this morning: "And this, ladies and gentlemen, if someone hasn't played a mean trick on me, is the Columbia Broadcasting System." . . .

The first act of Rossini's "Barber of Seville" is a treat for WJZ, WGAR and WLS listeners at 9 o'clock tonight. . . . Figaro, the barber, saves Count Almaviva, in disguise to win the hand of Rosina, from a few close shaves at the hands of Bartolo, Rosina's guardian and secret lover. . . . Tito Schipa sings Almaviva. . . .

Two Pittsburgh students of Oberlin College—Lois Bradley of 744 North Negley avenue, and William A. McRoberts, Jr., of 19 Mansfield avenue—take part in a network broadcast over WABC at midnight tonight . . . the combined glee clubs are to sing Elgar's inspirational "Land of Hope and Glory." . . .

Tom Gerun is due next Saturday on the Lucky Strike Dance Hour, direct from his Bal Tabarin in San Francisco. .

Eva Taylor, the feminine Cab Calloway, of Harlem, shares the Club Valspar show tonight with Andy Sannella, wizard of the steel guitar. . . . WCAE at 9:30. . . .

Ramona, the enchanting blues singer and pianist once with Don Bestor, entertains on WLW at 10:15 tonight. . . .

Kate Smith with 12,000 requests in one week for her photograph and Tony Wons with an average of 7,000 personally addressed letters a month, led CBS artists in the fan mail count last year . . . 12,697,000 letters.

Today's Tid Bit:

Herb McGee called a certain life insurance company the other day and an office boy answered the telephone rather lanily.

"Say, you have a sinecure down there, don't you?" chided Herb.

"Not any more," was the o. b.'s reply. "We sold him."

Stellar Show for Night Club Fans

Kay Kronick, blues singer, bids Pittsburgh goodbye on the Sun-Telegraph Night Club of the Air tonight at 11, over WCAE. . . . She leaves tomorrow to join the NBC-WTAM staff in Cleveland. . . . Others on tonight's bill are Ray Griffin, bass; Kathryn Trnavsky, soprano; Paul Gannon, tenor, and Dave Levin's Dance Orchestra. . . . Latest news events will be broadcast over WCAE today at 12:15, 2:30 and 6:30 as usual.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—All day long broadcasting rajahs sit in judgment on wouldbe radio stars. Studios echo with young—and sometimes not so young—sopranos singing "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," monologists with what they believe is a new line of gab, men and women from this and that section of the country who would make authentic on the air a mountain cabin or a rural homestead or a city penthouse.

Only a few are chosen. That is the tragic story of the studios. It's a story that Broadway and Hollywood are used to. To radioland it is new. The rajahs try to discourage the unknowns who flock to them daily with letters of introductions, with amateur performance clippings taken from local papers, with credentials of all kinds. If they didn't they'd be swamped.

* * *

Corner the rajahs, however and they'll admit that most their stars—those sitting most securely on the broadcasting perch—were unknown a few short years ago. They managed to get to the top through microphone personality, a new way of saying something old and an everlasting belief in themselves.

* * *

Not so long ago the rajahs found time for a girl named Frances Bowden, said to be from the Ozark country, who was casually given a place on an afternoon schedule for a 15-minute talk on her impressions of the big town. There's a story in Frances. In fact, we wouldn't wonder if there were several stories.

The rajahs themselves don't know what to make of her. Is she another example of the art that conceals art? Is she an unannily shrewd girl who, sensing the time was ripe for some Ozark lingo expressed naively and sincerely persuaded the rajahs that a country was waiting to her her?

Anyway, they made room for her for two or three talks. And no one was more surprised than they when they found that she clicked—clicked to the tune of 10,000 letters a week. What did they do? They hastily arranged a daily broadcast, made her radio season indefinite. There wasn't anything else they could do.

* * *

And all because she seemed an authentic symbol of Ozark youth. But, brethren, when you see Frances Bowden you simply don't see the Ozarks. For here is a girl, who, though she has been away from the little old mountain cabin, she says herself, a matter of only six weeks, dresses with the flair of New York's Fifty-seventh street; whose stockings are the sheerest of silk, whose cut of a frock is the last word in flapper zip, whose hair bob would do credit to Ziegfeld's front line. To top it all she has a poise as sure as an actress trained under Belasco.

EYNON PRAISES AUTO TESTS

Pointing out that eight per cent of automobile accidents in the state during November were due to mechanical failure, and that automobile accident deaths in the state increased six per cent during 1931, Benjamin G. Eynon, state commissioner of motor vehicles, last night urged all motorists to co-operate in the mandatory motor vehicles inspections.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, he designated the 1932 inspections the most drastic safety campaign in the history of Pennsylvania.

Lewis W. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, declared that while deaths on highways increased during the year, accident fatalities in Pittsburgh have decreased between 12 and 15 per cent.

Five directors of the club were re-elected. They are Fred A. Pichtel, president; Robert L. Wickline, George G. Semans, E. J. O'Brien and J. B. Eccleston.

Street Car Rides Bring Divorce Plea

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Tillie Herget says she has taken 49,920 miles of vacation on a street car line. She tired of it and wants a divorce.

Her husband, Conrad, is a street car conductor on one of the longest lines in the world. She married him in 1906. On his day off, each week, she complained, the only recreation he gave her was when he took her for a ride on the street car line.

Actress in Coma 9 Days Recovers

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 16.—(AP.)—Nine days after she fainted in the Union Station here, Jane Arnold, former New York actress, apparently had recovered today from an attack of amnesia.

She was able to give physicians her name and said her husband, Vic Arnold, is on a vaudeville tour in the Northwest.

Scaffold Collapse Kills 4 in Cairo

CAIRO, Jan. 16.—(INS.)—Four persons were known to have been killed and eight injured when a scaffolding on the new Ministry of Agriculture Building just outside Cairo collapsed today.

It was feared others may have lost their lives and their bodies become hidden in the debris.

Urge Budget for Reserve Training

At a meeting of Pittsburgh Chapter, Reserve Officers Association of the United States, a resolution urging Senators David A. Reed and James J. Davis to support the War Department budget for reserve training, was adopted. The resolution was introduced by Maj. C. B. Shaffer.

Ed Accepts Graft, Promises To Protect Belmonte's Liquor Trucks

(Adapted from the original motion picture story of W. R. Burnett; With screen play by John L. Mahin; produced by Cosmopolitan Productions and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

CHAPTER IX.

When Ed and Daisy arrived at Celli's at midnight the place was crowded. The five-piece orchestra was in the midst of a spasm of barbaric insouciance; the ten by twelve dance floor was filled with writhing, clinging bodies; waiters were hurrying here and there with liquor in coffee cups and teapots; the small room was filled with the odors of cigaret smoke, perfume and booze.

Ed, reeling slightly, pitched his hat to the check-room girl while Daisy disappeared in the small, curtained room to the right.

"Be right out!" she called.

Ed leaned in the doorway and surveyed the scene. He suddenly decided that he wouldn't go in, and turned back to get his hat. But Tessie, the check-room girl, cajoling and insistent, pinched his cheek and said:

"What's the matter, copper, don't you like our joint?"

Ed looked at her a moment and then walked away. The head-waiter, rubbing his hands in an unctuous manner, approached.

"What'cha say, Sergeant?" he asked in his most solicitous manner.

"You got a nice crowd," said Ed noncommittally.

"Yep!" exclaimed the other. "But—always room for you and one more."

"Okay," said Ed. "But stick us in a corner."

"Got just the spot for you," bowed the head-waiter. "Been waitin'. Right this way."

"Just a minute," from Ed, glancing toward the curtained door. The curtains parted that moment and Daisy came out.

"Tired waitin'?" she asked. "Was powderin' my nose."

"Let's get seated," said Ed, who felt that everyone was watching him. The head-waiter, still bowing, was head-waiting. He led the way, skirting the dance floor, to a booth in the rear. Ed unceremoniously took his seat without standing for Daisy to sit down. The waiter was close at hand, ferret-eyed and watchful.

"I'll take rye," said Ed.

"Twice," seconded Daisy.

GREETED BY BELMONTE

The waiter vanished.

"Why in hell did you want to come here?" asked Ed. "Everybody knows I'm a copper. You make it hard."

"What's the difference?" queried Daisy. She smiled at him and reached across and took his hand. "What's the difference? Don't everyone know coppers can be human?"

"But that head-waiter knows me—did you tip them off? I'd just as soon not be known." And Ed threw himself back in the recess of the booth and crossed his legs to the side.

"Oh, here's Belmonte!" exclaimed Daisy. She moved over as Belmonte, accompanied by Cholo, stopped in front of the booth. Ed started to say something, but merely muttered. Belmonte threw out a friendly hand.

"Hello, Sergeant," he sang, "glad to see you."

"Hello!" chimed Cholo. Belmonte took his seat beside Daisy and Cholo sat beside Ed.

"I hear this is your birthday," crooned Belmonte, turning a full face on Daisy and ignoring Ed.

"Yes—Big Boy, and I got a bottle of perfume," laughed Daisy.

Ed folded his arms across his chest and leaned forward. But he said nothing. Cholo chuckled. He started to speak, but Belmonte's sharp-toed shoe caught him on the shin. Cholo frowned.

"Well," said Belmonte, "the party's on me. What'll it be? Champagne?"

"If it's cold," said Daisy, glancing at Ed. He sank back in his seat and levelled his eyebrows at the girl.

"Yes, be sure it's cold," he said. But Belmonte seemed to ignore the implication. He beamed and drew forth one of his salt-water stogies. He made a gesture toward the waiter.

"Open up that special stock," he said. He leisurely lighted his cigar after breaking it in half and tossing part of it on the floor.

"Belmonte," said Daisy, "you made me a proposition once. I think I'll take it. I'm tired living the life of a poor little working girl. Are you on?"

"I'm on—anything you say," and Belmonte smoothed out the table cloth. Ed doubled his fists. Cholo instinctively edged away from him.

PROPOSITION MADE

The two drinks Daisy and Ed had ordered arrived. Without ceremony Ed gulped his off. He shoved his glass toward the waiter.

"Bring me another," he said. The waiter nodded. Belmonte grinned.

"Hittin' it up tonight?" he asked.

"Yeah? And what about it?" snarled Ed.

Belmonte shrugged in true Latin fashion.

"Oh, nothin'," he replied. Then he leaned forward and peered in the other's face. "You look like a regular guy," he said in oily tones. "I got a proposition."

"I don't want any of your propositions," exclaimed Ed.

"Well, you wouldn't have to go out of your way," and Belmonte leaned back. "The cops have been bothering us out on Wentworth street. If they would only lay off between three and four in the morning there might be a little somethin' in it."

Ed glared at him. Daisy reached over and pressed his hand.

"What did I tell you? There are ways to make money," she said.

"You too?" asked Ed.

"Well, I can't see why you can't listen to the proposition," continued Daisy.

"All right—what is it, Belmonte? What do you want me to do?"

Instead of replying Belmonte reached in his pocket and extracted a roll of bills. The one on the top was a grand note. He began to peel them off, grinning as he did so. One, two, three—thousand-dollar bills! Daisy's eyes glistened.

"I can see that sable coat," she purred.

"Come on—what's the proposition?" asked Ed impatiently, his eyes glued on the bank roll.

"Oh, if the cops out there would just happen not to be around, it might mean a grand a week to the party what could guarantee it," he said decisively.

"Okay, I'll fix it!" exclaimed Ed. Belmonte looked at him a moment and without taking his eyes off him slid off the top note and laid it in front of him. Ed hesitated, looked at the bill, turned to Daisy, and then slowly took the bill in his hand. He folded it up and stuffed it in his watch pocket and then drew it out and threw it on the table.

"Let's have a drink," he said thickly. Belmonte nodded.

Now these trucks, six of them, come through Wentworth every night," he said in a business-like tone. "Between three—an'—four."

. . . .

Fightin' Jim Fitzpatrick read of his appointment as Chief of Police in the newspapers before he was notified. It did not come as a surprise to him, as he had learned through the headquarters grapevine that Burton was through long hours before the newspaper boys got the news hot from the mayor's office.

"Gee, that's great!" gleefully exclaimed Mickey, "and now that you're chief, what are you going to make me?"

"You're still a rookie," grinned Fightin' Jim, taking his freckle-faced son on his knee.

"Aw—can't I be a regular flatfoot? do I have to be a rookie all my life?" whined Mickey.

"Wait 'till you grow another inch; that's regulations."

Mary hugged her husband and laid her cheek against his.

"Jim," she said, "I'm proud of you. I knew some day—"

"Well, Mary, you're just as much to blame as I am," said Jim with fervor. "If it hadn't been for you and the kind of home you gave me, I'd never have gotten anywhere—I'd still be pounding the pavements waiting for the old pension time to crawl around."

"No, Jim," insisted Mary, "You've had it in you to succeed. Now I want you to give them the best you've got. You'll have everybody watching you."

"Well, I am going to clean up this town like it never was cleaned up before," and Jim pounded the edge of the chair with his good hand.

"Atta boy, pop!" cried Mickey. "And I'll start right now—by washing your ears!"

Synopsis

Pretty Daisy Beaumont is sentenced to a long term in a reformatory when dishonest policemen give false testimony against her. Jim Fitzpatrick, police captain, noted for his honesty, succeeds in having Daisy freed. Four racketeers are found murdered and Fitzpatrick suspects Guiseppe Belmonte, overlord of a huge vice ring. Belmonte is arrested by Fitzpatrick, but succeeds in being released in a hurry. Ed Fitzpatrick, sergeant of the vice squad, promises to help his brother Jim to bring Belmonte to justice. They discover that Daisy is employed by the vice leader. Ed admires Daisy and visits her. She says she is appreciative of what Jim did for her. Jim is transferred to a quiet precinct. When a bank is held up he pursues the robbers with several other officers. Jim is wounded, but the robbers are captured. Belmont plans revenge on Jim with Daisy's help.

Now Go On

"You're still a rookie," Jim told his freckle-faced son.

ALL IN A DAY — By MARK HELLINGER

I WOULD USE the doctor's name in this quaint, little story—but I imagine he'd be angry if I did. So I'll merely tell you that he is one of New York's foremost surgeons, and is just as well liked as he is famous. He was walking up Madison avenue the other afternoon when an elderly man was struck by a taxicab and hurled against the curb.

The medico took command of the situation immediately. He rushed to the side of the injured man and found that he had sustained a long cut on the top of his head. Somebody told the physician that the old man's name was MacGregor and that he lived in an apartment just across from the spot where the taxi had hit him. So, instead of waiting for an ambulance, he ordered that MacGregor be carried into his own home.

The doctor had several important appointments, but that didn't mean the slightest thing to him. He made the old man as comfortable as possible and then prepared to take the necessary stitches in his scalp.

While he was readying things, MacGregor regained consciousness. Strangely enough, he wasn't the least bit hysterical. He seemed to remember the accident perfectly. He asked the doctor for the latter's name. The medico told him—and the elderly man raised his eyebrows.

"Indeed," he cried. "You don't say! I've heard of you a great deal. They say you're the very best surgeon in all the land."

The physician advised his patient not to excite himself. But he could not keep the old man from talking as he worked.

"This is not a very big job, is it, doctor?" muttered MacGregor. "I don't suppose there'll be much of a bill attached to it?"

The doctor had all he could do to refrain from laughing aloud. Here was a great Scotch story if ever there was one. A few minutes before, Mr. MacGregor had been on the point of death. Now he was worrying about the size of a fee.

The doctor said nothing and kept working. But the injured man wouldn't let it go at that.

"I know you charge a very great deal for your services," he rattled on. "But I'm not a very wealthy man, doctor. You understand that, don't you?"

This time the medico nodded agreeably.

"Don't you worry about anything," he chirped. "All I want is for you to get well. We'll just consider this a visit on my part, that's all. Just a visit."

The Scot seemed visibly relieved.

"Ah," he sighed, "that's very good. Just a visit, eh? That's fine."

In due time, and after giving the old man definite instructions about calling the family doctor, the famous surgeon departed . . .

The following afternoon while the doctor was going over some papers in his office, a nurse informed him that a Mr. MacGregor was insisting that he see him.

"All right," said the physician. "Send him in."

So in walked Mr. MacGregor. The latter gentleman seemed very much at ease. He sat down in the most comfortable chair and streched his legs.

"Ah," he sighed, "I feel pretty fit for an old man."

"Yes?" returned the doctor. "I'm glad to hear that. And what can I do for you?"

Mr. MacGregor smiled contentedly.

"My bandage has slipped a little," he returned. "And I thought that as long as you paid me a visit yesterday, I'd pay you one today." . . .

A CERTAIN TICKET speculator, reports Attie Hitchman, wanted very much to purchase some seats for a performance of an opera at the Metropolitan. Since he himself was known to the box office men, he could not risk the chance of personally applying for seats. Accordingly, he called in one of the men always hanging around his office.

"Listen, stupid," he said. "I want you to go over to the Met and buy me six tickets at the box office. I can't go because they know me. Here's the dough."

"But," objected the other, "they know me, too. How will I get away with it?"

The speculator made a gesture of impatience.

"That's easy," he cried. "Disguise yourself. Get some kind of a disguise, and they'll never recognize you. Now beat it. And don't come back without the seats."

Some 20 minutes later the man returned to the office.

"Well," demanded the speculator. "Where are the seats?"

The other chap shook his head.

"I couldn't get them," he responded. "They recognized me and threw me out."

"You dope!" howled the spec. "Didn't I tell you to disguise yourself before you went over?"

"I did," retorted the other aggrievedly. "I did disguise myself. Before I even went near the box office I bought myself this new pair of gloves!" . . .

"MARK, old top," writes Dan Morris, "you are positively stuck this time. Remember the story of the motion picture magnate, the author by his side, the telegram, the magnate's laugher even though he couldn't read, and the fact that his theater had burned down in Denver that day?

"You must remember it because it's already caused plenty of trouble for you. Thus far, you've managed to wriggle out of most of your difficulties in connection with the yarn. But now I have you definitely.

"I've gone into the thing very deeply and I can find no record of a recent theater-burning in Denver. What about that angle?"

Nothing to it, Mr. Morris. I merely substituted Denver for the actual city in which the burning took place because I didn't want anybody to be able to detect the motion picture magnate in question. Doesn't that sound reasonable, sir? And if it does, I can assure you that I'm just as surprised as you are . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

Candy was distributed free today, with compliments of the Warner Theaters, to every child attending meetings of the 17 chapters of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Clubs.

This was in addition to prizes for contests and other giveaways at various theaters.

Members of the Etna Harris Chapter were standing in line long before the doors opened, waiting for the "Take a Chance" bill announced by Manager Morty Henderson. Every feature was a surprise.

One of the big attractions was the Lapertche Orchestra, made up of members of Cameraphone Chapter. These young musicians have been visiting the different chapters from week to week and are a sensation wherever they appear.

STATE WASHINGTON

A Juvenile Stage Unit put on by boys and girls from the Mamie Barth Studio made a big hit. Their names will be published in this column later.

After the stage program, there were contests, with attractive prizes, and a Barrel of Fun.

The radio broadcast, a regular feature at State (Washington) Chapter, temporarily suspended last week, was resumed today.

Among the popular little entertainers in this chapter are: Velma McVhiel, Thais Bowers, Rose Mary Angelo, Matthew DeAngelo, Peggy Claffey, Patsy Falso, Roberta Baker, Donna Fay Walker, Virginia Hinerman, Gale Hartzell, Charlene Hartzell, Betty Ihrig, Roger Doyle, Betty Jane Hough, Myrtle Scholten, Margaret Baker, Lorana Walters, Donna Merle, Betty Hilberry, Billie Brownlee, Dorothy and Eleanor Baker, Ruth Johnson, Betty Rogers, Marguerita Rosetta and Marguerite Birmingham.

To join the club, go to the Warner Theater nearest your home, at the time appointed for the Junior Komic Club meeting on Saturday morning and get an application blank. Meetings are held every Saturday morning at the Arsenal, Belmar, Cameraphone, Davis, Harris (Etna), Kenyon, Manor, Mt. Oliver, Plaza, Rowland, South Hills, Schenley, Enright, State (Washington), Prince (Ambridge) and Grand (Greensburg).

If you do not live in the vicinity of one of the above theaters send your age, name and address to the Secretary, Sun-Telegraph Junior Komic Club, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa., and a membership button and card will be mailed to you.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

The following boys and girls in the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theater Junior Komic Club will celebrate their birthdays tomorrow. May each year bring them more and more happiness.

BANG
YER BEGINNIN' TO LIKE THIS PART OF THE COUNTRY, ARE YA OLIVE?
YES, I AM—I'VE FIXED UP THIS OLD HOUSE AND IT'S SO PEACEFUL OUT HERE IN THE DESERT—EVEN IF THE RANCH DOESN'T PAY WE CAN LIVE A LONG TIME ON MY $500
AW, I'LL BET THEY'RE NOT SO BAD
I DON'T TRUSK THE SWABS AROUN SKULLYVILLE—THEY LOOKS LIKE CRIMINALS

THE BUNGLE FAMILY — Nerves

WELL JO, I GUESS YOU WONDER WHY I'M HOME SO EARLY. FRANKLY I'VE GOT SOME VERY, VERY BIG NEWS. IN OTHER WORDS PREPARE YOURSELF FOR A BIG SURPRISE, A—
DID YOU HEAR ABOUT MR. EL DORADO HIS NERVES? HE HAD A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN! IMAGINE! AND AFTER ALL MY PLANS.
WHO ... EL DORADO? TOUGH! ANYHOW OUR BOARD OF DIRECTORS MET TODAY AND AFTER CRYING THEMSELVES INTO FINANCIAL HYSTERICS TALKED TO ME AS THOUGH I WAS THE BABY WHO INVENTED DEFICITS.
WELL GEORGE THAT'S VERY IMPORTANT, BUT THINK WHAT THIS OTHER AFFAIR MEANS TO PEGGY, AND TO ME TOO.
WE ALL HAVE OUR TROUBLES. AFTER I PROVED CONCLUSIVELY WITH FIGURES GALORE THAT THE DIRECTORS DIDN'T KNOW WHAT THEY WERE TALKING ABOUT THEY STOOD UP AND SAID, BUNGLE, WE ACCEPT YOUR RESIGNATION! LIKE THAT!
WHAT? YOU MEAN YOU LEFT THAT FIRM? WELL I EXPECTED THAT.
BUT THIS OTHER ABOUT MR. EL DORADO WAS SUCH A BIG SURPRISE: SUCH A SHOCK! I WAS STUNNED! YOU CAN IMAGINE HOW I FELT. THINK OF IT, A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN! HIM!
ALL OF US HAVE NERVES, EVEN WHILE SITTING DOWN THOSE DIRECTORS LOOKED AS THOUGH THEY WERE DANCING. IT FIXED ME TOO, LOOK HOW MY FINGER SHIMMIES! LOOK!

THE NEBBS — Something for Nothing

LOVE COMES BUT ONCE (Or, How Come You Do Me Like You Do?

"Wherever in the world are you going, you haughty boy, you?" archly chided Lucy Mulch as she spied the Captain tiptoeing off the field with his carpet bag. St. Swack did not answer, but handed Lucy a clipping. "WANTED, A-1 football player, under 45, handsome. Opportunity for right man. Highest salary, laundry, frigidaire, maid service. Academy of Hard Knocks for Boys," read the by now hysterical and kicking girl. "I hate to go, Lucy," said Peverel, packing and unpacking his suitcase nervously. "But I have to think of the future. What with the 20 per cent cut we got recently, I can't make ends meet. Let alone quarterbacks." As one man, the saddened teams shook hands with the young pioneer, but just at that moment . . . .

Fair Rates Demanded

The Clamor for Better Treatment from the Public Utilities Cannot Be Ignored.

The Legislature's failure to protect the people from the rapacity of unfair public utilities is having its effect in the formation of fair rate associations in many parts of the state. The hostility that was manifested towards a defender of the utilities at the Harrisburg conference Thursday evidenced the bitterness of the feeling that has been aroused.

The demand for better treatment from the utilities will not down. The Public Service Commission is again to be called upon to reduce electric rates for domestic consumers. If it should again refuse to act it is inevitable that further efforts shall be made through an appeal to the voters to abolish the commission and substitute a body that will be more zealous to protect the public.

Dr. Ben Graham, superintendent of city schools, reports that the average attendance at the evening trade and high schools is 1,225 greater than last year, and that 237 high school graduates have returned to school to take additional courses. Many, no doubt, are going to school because they cannot obtain jobs. Honor to them for studying instead of loafing.

Even middle-aged persons are learning in the public schools this year such trades and occupations as bricklaying, printing, auto mechanics, commercial art, drafting, electric wiring, plumbing, bookkeeping and stenography. When they go back to work they will be in position to command higher wages than they received before they lost their jobs.

No less to be admired are the hundreds of unemployed who are taking purely cultural courses in the evening schools. The Schenley High School is giving a course at night which completely parallels the day course. Sixteen hundred are enrolled, which is 400 more than last year. The students will find life more interesting because of their study of history, literature, science, mathematics and foreign languages.

One of the oddities brought about by the warm weather was a baseball game at Uniontown. If spring comes in February the Pirates may be able to train at home instead of in California. Joking aside, there is the possibility of harm in the unseasonable temperature. If the buds on the fruit trees should be developed too far freezing temperature would play havoc with the crop.

Two Pittsburghers, Mrs. Anna Felix and Mrs. Carrol Miller, have been suggested by the State Democratic Committee as delegates-at-large and a third, Charles A. Jones, as alternate, to the Democratic National Convention. It is to be hoped they and all others who may represent Pennsylvania at the convention will work for the abolition of the mischievous two-thirds majority rule.

The Republican National Committee has issued a statement denouncing the march of Father Cox's army from Pittsburgh to Washington as "inspired by political antagonism to President Hoover, led by men conspicuous in political circles for their opposition to him, and deliberately planned to arouse public sentiment against him." It would be interesting to know if our fellow-citizen, James Francis Burke, geenral counsel for the committee, concurs in this view.

It will be gratifying if, as now seems likely, the negotiations being held here by representatives of the Methodist Episcopal and Methodist Protestant denominations lead to a union of the two bodies. The United Presbyterian Church was formed in Pittsburgh by merger of two denominations, and parleys looking to the consolidation of the United Presbyterian and Presbyterian churches have been held here. Pittsburgh has been prominent in the nation's religious history.

The State Department of Revenue reports its gasoline tax collections were $310,468 higher last month than in the corresponding month the year before. That is encouraging, especially if it means that progress has been made in the warfare against gasoline bootleggers. There is little doubt, however, that the bootleggers are still keeping the tax collections below what they should be.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is running excursions to Pittsburgh on Sunday from New York, St. Louis and other points which it expects will bring 2,000 visitors to the city for the day. What a pity that the Blue Law, keeping the theaters closed, will deprive these excursionists of entertainment that they could enjoy in most of the other large cities! Thank goodness, the Carnegie Institute will be open.

Gov. Pinchot has promised the Greater Pennsylvania Council that politics will not be allowed to interfere with its work of developing the state's resources. The council has interesting potentialities and its program is commendable. It seeks for one thing to obtain better freight rates for bituminous coal. Success in that alone would justify its creation.

Stream pollution has come into the news again through the suit of a Westmoreland County farmer to restrain a coal company from letting poisonous mine drainage flow into a stream passing through his property. He says the contaminated water is unfit for his cattle to drink and destroys vegetation. It is well to be reminded that stream pollution is not a mere matter of killing fish.

In his presidential address before the State Medical Society, Dr. William H. Mayer, of Pittsburgh, spoke of the desirability of providing institutions for the care of incipient mental cases. It is a comfort to know that Pittsburgh stands a good chance of getting such an institution in the proposed State Psychiatric Hospital to be erected on the Pitt campus.

The American Weekly Magazine Section of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph to be published tomorrow, offers a treat to lovers of good fiction in a new serial, "The Spanish Lady," by Frederick Arnold Kummer. Another interesting feature of the magazine will be an illustrated article about the experience of local girls who have offered themselves in the matrimonial market for a cash price.

In the Gravure Section of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph Pittsburghers will find a reminder that our winters have not always been so balmy as this. A photograph of an exciting race between two race horses drawing sleighs in snowy Ridge avenue years ago in the presence of 3,000 spectators is reproduced. There are pictures, too, of Pittsburgh's younger society girls skating in Duquesne Garden.

Strong Hand Needed Across the Sea

By Nelson Harding

Now is when a hand of firmness,
With a strong right arm behind it,
Wearing a familiar coatsleeve
On which there are stars embroidered,
Should be stretched across the ocean,
Spelling "Martial Law and Order"—
Resolutely adding "Finis"
To the island's reign of terror.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—I'm wondering if our forefathers went in for the brand of moaning so prevalent. Life was certainly no whale of a picnic for them either. As I get it from history books, they fared forth at sunup with a prayer, a plow and a flint lock.

And limped home in the gloaming all festooned in the rump with Indian arrows. And if you go back far enough they didn't worry about wolves at the door. They had dinosaurs. Imagine lurching in from Reuben's at 3 a. m. a trifle vin triste, and finding a dinosaur napping on the stoop.

Perhaps a dinosaur with a touch of hoof rot or broken out with rinder pest. No sir, give me a wolf every time and I'll toss in Aunt Ida's tippet for a keepsake. The truth is I've grown fond of my wolf. Except for an offside limp and a slight mange he's rather cute.

I call him Elmer and he was once a mate of Peggy Joyce's she-wolf Elvira. They separated on account of the shrinkage in doorsteps. Elmer heard about me and here he is. Wait a second, I'll call him. Elmer. O. El—m-ee-r! Where in the world is that lupus? (Latin).

No he's not there! Give a wolf a pleasant doorstep and off he traipses. I'll bet he's joined the pack hanging around that big empty skyscraper on Madison avenue. When things perk up, I think I'll trade him for a new gnu. I'm a fool for gnus. Them and peanut brittle.

Hear that howl? Well, Elmer's back. Make out you don't hear and I'll fiddle about fixing my typewriter. He is always starting somewhere and galloping back. It wouldn't surprise me if Elmer was a mental defective. After all just squatting on doorsteps is rather moronish. I'm glad I'm on a higher plane.

There he's scratching. Let him scratch. I don't want him in the house. He hasn't had a bath since I don't know when and his coat is all muddied up. I wish he had come in biege anyway. In fact if I were not over my 1932 wolf budget, I'd like one in mauve.

* * *

I don't see why wolves aren't fashionable during the depression. Smartly clipped, with leashes from Hermes, they'd look as swank as some canine cockroaches I see. Some odd Tuesday when the Frazier Jelkes are not using their box I'd like to dude up Elmer and take him to the Metropolitan to hear William Guard sing. I hope we sit near the Huttons.

* * *

Afterward we might go to the Casino. Elmer adores parks. He was whelped in Yellowstone and drank from Old Faithful. Drinking hot water is why he was never bothered with withers or gum shrivels. When the panic broke he lit a shuck for the East via Washington, D. C., where he had a police dog cousin. Elmer knew there would be heaps of marble steps along 5th avenue's smother of luxury. First night in the city he sat howling on an onyx step on Millionaire's Row. But when the step slump came he drifted, down the social scale, and finally landed with us. To be honest ours isn't a regular door step. It was in boom days but today it is just an old soap box I swiped from front of Henry Sell's Sutton Place shack.

* * *

So, naturally, Henry's wolf has no stoop. Things are so tough he sits on the cold, cold ground, but it's all right. He's second grade anyway—a timber wolf with warts on his forelegs and the cruppers. Henry used to have a middling to fair wolf, but he got disgusted. After all, a wolf must live. He calls his Tabouche. You know, French. Fancy putting on the lug with a low wolf like that.

* * *

But I'll say this for Hank. He probably spells it Hanque. His wolf is a super optimist. He thinks if he sticks through the winter with Henry he'll be reclining in a pink satih chaise lounge come the spring rains. I love that in a wolf.

* * *

I prefer Elmer's outlook. He knows with his present master the future is dark. Whenever he overhears talk of better times he lets go a Bronx cheer. And when I mention hope for my Peru bond, the way he laughs you'd think his mammy might have been mixed up some way in a scandal with a hyena.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

These modern youngsters who think that they're smarter than their elders. Well, often they are.

They demand freedom and privileges that scare you pink, Mom and Dad; but what are you going to do about it?

You say they yawn when you tell them how you weren't always wanting to run out at nights to the movies; how you didn't use rouge or risk your neck racing automobiles.

Of course they yawn. It's a wonder they don't laugh right in your face, my dear, for you're bluffing and they know you're bluffing.

Naturally you didn't go to movies. There weren't any. Use rouge? Wear one-piece bathing suits? Who did? And as for staying home with dear father and mother—where else could you have gone?

No; no; those arguments won't do. The youngsters are on to you. But then, what? Surely you can't let them ruin their health, perhaps wreck their lives, without warning? And when you do warn them, they won't listen to a word you say, for obviously they don't think you know what you're talking about. And, chances are, you don't—entirely. Then what can you do?

You can do this.

First—you can acknowledge to yourself and admit to the youngster that YOU, and not HE, created this dangerous mechanical age, with its menacing utilities and opportunities; and you can stop acting as if they were his fault, and stop blaming him for wanting to take advantage of them.

Next—you can put it up to the kid. You've got to do it any way, so you might as well make a virtue of necessity. You can say:

"You think you're smarter than I am, youngster. Well, perhaps you are. Certainly you are living in a much faster and more complicated world that I lived in, with a hundred times more chance to raise Cain. Probably if I had been born into YOUR world, I'd have felt and done exactly as you're doing. But that isn't the point.

"The point is that I want to help you find happiness and health in the midst of all this swiftness and excitement and downright danger. Obviously, I can't run your life by my youthful experience. It wouldn't fit your case at all. You'd rightly consider such an attempt both stupid and unfair, and you'd probably sneak on me.

"On the other hand, I am legally, and through my love for you, responsible for your progress. I mustn't let you smash your life through ignorance and impulsiveness if I can possibly help it.

"And I do know, more than you can yet realize, your future need for good health and self-control and a decent education. You 'can't be bothered' with such things just now but I, as your parent, MUST be bothered, or the law will see to it that I am.

"So here's my proposition. I'M GOING TO PUT IT UP TO YOU. You say you're smart enough and strong enough to handle all this freedom. Very well, then, PROVE IT!

"I'm going to make you responsible for your own life. You can write your own ticket; set your own hours. I shall give you an allowance, small at first, to be enlarged as you prove that you know how to manage it.

"In return I ask only this.

"You must maintain your health and your school record at a decent standard.

"You must respect the rights and comfort of those living with you in your home.

"You must keep a decent name for yourself in this town.

"If you can do that—if you can really 'be your own boss' as you so often demand to be—then here's your chance to prove it."

That's what you can do, Mom and Dad.

Will it work? ASK THE YOUNGSTER WHAT HE THINKS ABOUT IT?

Text for Today But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.—Mark, x:14.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Bearing the Love-Market

Those Bernard Shaw letters are a startling exception. The average man's "love letters," these days, are about the size of a pure food label and almost as carefully worded.

* * *

Marriage is a "habit." No matter how often a man's heart may change, he is usually content to go on forever, letting the same woman clean his safety razor and keep his dinner hot.

It is rather sad to reflect that there is a whole generation growing up, whose conception of architecture is a red-filling station, and whose idea of lovemaking is a snuggle in a rumble seat.

* * *

When a man goes so far as to admit that he "thinks" he is falling in love, he is already going down for the third time—and the girl knows it.

* * *

The average man spends all of his days trying to dodge something—women, marriage, income taxes, prohibition, taxicabs, baldness, alimony and old age—but sooner or later most of them GET him.

* * *

You can get a clergyman for a few dollars and half a dozen bridesmaids for the asking; yet many a charming wedding has been lost to the world, simply because a small detail like the bridegroom couldn't be found at the last moment.

When a girl begins to take too much stock in a man's love, somehow, it suddenly ceases to declare any dividends.

* * *

Many a girl has married a man because he had such a tender, winning way with women—and then divorced him for the same reason.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Isn't It So?

The matrimonial bark is sometimes a growl.

A medium is about the only person who can deal in futures with any benefit to himself.

A lot of people seem to be having a tough time keeping the wolf from the garage door.

Some married couples can't live happily together, even when their relatives are not around.

It is especially hard to tell a wise man from a fool when both suggest plans for saving the country.

Women and Children First!

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The resignation of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of the Supreme Court, is as depressing as the loss of a battle. He, along with Justice Brandeis, who also is growing old, has been the bulwark of liberalism in the court.

If these two men have entered into the affection of the millions as have no others in the history of the court, it must be because of the general impression that they are almost unique in their attitude toward human rights and liberties.

As Justice Holmes has walked gallantly into the twilight of his days the love of the people has constantly increased. The humanitarian instinct of the man set him apart with Brandeis. He never believed that the defense of property was paramount over the defense of human rights. And yet there was not a drop of demagogy in his blood. He was merely saturated with the traditional American spirit, devoted to the ideals of the fathers, and these have been challenged with increasing success in two generations.

When the masses of the people have hoped for one decision and got another they invariably have inquired first where Holmes and Brandeis stood; and if found that they stood with the majority the masses have been convinced that, under the law, there was no other way.

In the choice of his successor President Hoover will be expected to name a liberal—not a make-believe liberal; for if he puts an ultra-conservative in the place of Holmes it will be a tragedy.

'Sharing the Burden'

Now the French treasury experts have submitted a plan to the British government on reparations, recommending that this be settled by an agreement among the 14 nations who borrowed billions out of our pockets to refuse to pay us what they owe. This will work no hardship on the 14 nations, but will put all the burden on our own people, and this process of shifting the debts from people who owe them to people to whom they are owed is called "sharing the burden."

Incidentally there is much indignation in France because Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, has called attention in a radio address to the fact that—

"France has enough funds on deposit in New York to pay war debt installments for the next 10 years."

This interferes with the propaganda picturing the debtor nations as in desperate plight and the United States preposterously prosperous.

Merely using France as an example, among the debtors, it would be worth while to have some of our advocates of transferring the debts to us give us a report on the financial condition of the French treasury compared with that of ours; of the number of unemployed in France compared with the number here; of the tax rate in France compared with the rate being fixed here; and then explain why France cannot pay her debt and the American people must be taxed to pay it.

This reeking prosperity of America delusion is all the more strange since the international organization at Geneva has announced that the United States has more jobless men than Germany and France combined, and almost twice as many as England and France combined.

* * *

New York City As an Example

Thus, with our publicists and bankers clamoring for the transfer of the debts to us, they are more and more impatient with suggestions about the problem of preventing the starvation of millions here. What are the facts—facts that only savage and brutal governments can ignore, and to which savage and brutal people only will be indifferent? Take New York City as an example:

Here we have it—that of the Gibson Relief Committee's funds, only finished being collected the other day, 40 per cent have been expended now. The President's private charity plan has failed to solve the problem.

And Commissioner of Public Welfare Taylor, in charge of the Mayor's Committee, announces that unless money can be found to continue the feeding of the hungry women and children there is tragedy immediately ahead. He says:

"The closing of the Home Relief Bureau has placed a greatly increased burden on the private relief agencies, which have received 30 per cent more applications for aid in the last four days than they did in the week previous. The breadlines are getting worse. At the rate at which the Mayor's Committee is being compelled to spend money, it will have spent by the end of February what it had intended to disburse by May 1. In the last three weeks we have spent $137,000 more than we had budgeted. We are taking care of 30,000 families now and we can last only two weeks more."

Can we possibly interest our publicists and high-minded citizens in this situation?

* * *

Sisson Wants Wages Reduced

Francis H. Sisson, of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, manages in a speech before the Republican Committee of One Hundred in New York to discuss present day conditions without one word of human sympathy for the hungry children and the jobless men. His plan is to do nothing to give men work. He denounces the idea of vast public improvements by the federal government.

Strangely enough, just as we are learning startling things about the Peruvian and other loans in which evident fraud was practiced on American investors, he is impressed with "corruption" in government. H wants the wages of those who still have jobs reduced; but he does not imply that there must be a reduction in profits.

And speaking to a Hoover campaign committee he soft-pedals the tariff, apologetically explaining that "trade barriers have a harmful effect in the long run by restricting trade." Dear me, it wasn't such a long run either, was it, Mr. Sisson?

But he wants the anti-trust laws changed in the interest of monopoly with all that implies of a further gouging of a people who are now so poor that they cannot even take care of their starving.

* * *

Are We Going to 'Let Them Starve?'

What are we going to do about these women and children—these men with drawn white faces in the lengthening breadlines? Let them starve?

When New York City cannot be permitted to prevent starvation because of the prohibitive cost what can be done by smaller communities? Let the people there starve?

When individual contributions raised in New York by high pressure methods are 40 per cent exhausted within little more than a month, and no more is being asked by the President's Committee, what are we going to do about those who are penniless and many shelterless? Let them starve?

The ugly fact proclaimed in trumpet tone is this: that unless the President alters his determination that not one penny of Federal money shall be even loaned to these community governments women and children will starve; and if he persists in his opposition to a public works program they will starve.

Can't we persuade our publicists to give some attention to the pressing problem of starvation here in America? Or is human misery beneath the dignity of high intelligence?
